HEADQUARTERS IN LOUISVILLE

Primary Subcommittee Decides to Move.

Official Call To Be Published In Few Days.

Ollie James Still Undecided as to Race for Governor.

CONFERRING WITH FRIENDS.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Primary Subcommittee of the Democratic Executive Committee, represented by a quorum composed of Secretary Mott Ayres, of Fulton; Finley Fogg, of West Liberty; Norton Fitch, of Nicholasville, and A. B. Rouse, of Covington, held a meeting at the Leland Hotel here this afternoon. The most important action taken was the adoption of a resolution changing the headquarters of the subcommittees from Frankfort to Louisville, where offices will be opened by Secretary Mott Ayres in a few days. The members who attended the meeting to-day stated that no action was taken concerning the resignation of Chairman McQuown, the subject not being considered.

The meeting here was held on a call signed by Messrs Ayres, Fogg and Fitch, and was attended also by Mr. Rouse.

The committee went into executive session immediately on assembling and was in session about one hour.

Finley Fogg was elected chairman of the meeting and the first item disposed of was the naming of G. W. Roark, of Franklin; Norton Fitch, of Nicholasville, and Secretary Mott Ayres, of Fulton, as a committee to receive and disburse the money to be taken from the candidates as entrance fees. This work is to begin at once.

Upon the motion of Committeeman Rouse, the hadquarters of the subcommittee were changed from Frankfort to Louisville. Explaining this action after the meeting, Secretary Ayres stated that Louisville was selected as being a more convenient locality than Frankfort from which to conduct the campaign, as has usually been done in the past.

Messrs. Rouse and Fogg were designated a committee to draw up the official call for the primary election, which, under the law must be posted forty days preceding the election.

Secretary Ayres was instructed to insert advertisements for bids for printing 350,000 ballots and for printed matter to be used in the primary election.

OLLIE JAMES UNDECIDED.

Asking Friends' Advice as to Entering Race for Governor.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Congressman Ollie James arrived in Paducah late Monday night and retired at the Palmer House without registering. He was in the city until 11:20 o'clock this morning, when he took the train for Marion, having spent the morning visiting his friends and asking their advice about entering the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He declined to make any announcement:

"I am going around asking questions and getting information myself," he said, "I have not decided whether I shall make the race for Governor. This is my first opportunity since Congress adjourned to meet my friends in the First district and acquaint myself with the situation."

While here Congressman James talked with the Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, Senator Wheeler Campbell, an avowed candidate for Congress in the event of Mr. James' relinquishment of the nomination; County Judge R. T. Lightfoot, another aspirant for Congressional honors, and a number of lesser lights. His mission was frankly stated, and he received much encouragement to make the race. It is believed that Mr. James will seek the nomination after he has consulted with the leaders in all the counties of the First district, although those with whom he conferred, cannot say they got that impression positively from Mr. James. The most of his conversation here was interrogatory.

WILL NOT RUN.

J. Tevis Cobb's Impaired Health Responsible for His Decision.

Richmond, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Hon. J. Tevis Cobb, of Richmond, Ky., has been strongly urged by various friends throughout the district to become a candidate for Congress, and on being asked this afternoon in regard to his intentions thereto, said: "It is true that for some time past many friends have urged me to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district. After giving the matter consideration, I several months ago declined to become a candidate. I was largely induced to reach this conclusion because of the condition of my health at that time. Recently my friends again have become so urgent that in justice to them it seemed that I should give the matter further consideration. I regret to say that, although my health has very much improved, it is in such condition as to forbid me as a prudent person to become a candidate for this office or to assume its duties and responsibilities. I fully appreciate the desire of my friends, and feel grateful to them for the interest they have manifested in me."

MR. VREELAND SERVI NOTICE.

First to Notify Committee of His Candidacy.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Hubert Vreeland, of Jefferson county, Secretary of Agriculture and candidate for the nomination of Secretary of State at the Democratic State primary election of November next, was the first candidate to formally serve notice upon the subcommittee having the primary in charge. Under the rules adopted by the State Executive Committee on Saturday last candidates must make formal announcement to the subcommittee on or before September 20 next. Mr. Vreeland filed the first notice. Secretary Ayres, of the subcommittee, says that the transfer of the committee headquarters to Louisville will likely be made during the coming week.

HELM MAY BE NOMINEE.

Believed That Congressional Committee Will So Declare.

Nicholasville, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Eighth District Democratic Congressional Committee, of which J. Norton Fitch is chairman, will meet in this city Friday to elect a State Central Committeeman for the district to succeed the late R. W. Miller. It is thought that the Hon. J. A. Sullivan will be elected.

On account of the withdrawal of John W. Hughes from the race for Congress it is probable that the Hon. Harvey Helm will have no opposition, and it is believed the committee will declare the primary off and declare Mr. Helm the nominee of the party.

Judge Hughes Seriously Ill.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Judge John W. Hughes, who withdrew from the race for the Democratic nomination for Congressman in this (the Eighth) district, yesterday at Shelbyville, reached his home at 3 o'clock this morning, and is now confined to his bed, a very sick man. His withdrawal was a surprise to his most intimate friends and advisers, and a great disappointment to many people. But to his family and physicians it became a question of sacrificing his health, and possibly life itself, for Judge Hughes to continue the campaign.

Harding May Enter Race.

Danville, Ky., Aug. 14.—Following the withdrawal of Judge John W. Hughes, of Mercer county, at Shelbyville yesterday from the race for Congress in this district, the friends of the Hon. Robert Harding, of this county, have been urging him to make the race. The primary will be held September 1, but the friends of Mr. Harding say he is so well known that he would win without making a thorough canvass. He says he will decide to-morrow.

NEGRO SOLDIERS SHOOT UP TOWN.

BARKEEPER KILLED AND POLICEMAN WOUNDED.

HOTEL AND PRIVATE RESIDENCES BULLET-RIDDLED.

BROWNSVILLE PEOPLE ANGRY.

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 14.—Evidently angered because of a search made among their ranks in an effort to apprehend a negro who attacked Mrs. Leon Evans at her home here last evening, and who she asserted was a negro soldier, members of a battalion of negro Federal troops stationed at Fort Brown, near here, entered Brownsville to-day, became unruly and fired several volleys down Main street. As a result Frank Natus, a barkeeper, is dead, a bullet from a Krag-Jorgensen rifle having pierced his heart, and Policeman Joseph Dominge is wounded, his arm and hand shattered by a bullet and his horse shot from under him.

Twenty-three of the bullets fired entered the home of Louis R. Cowan, many went through the residence of F. E. Stark and several bricks were shot from the walls of the Miller Hotel, near a window where guests were sleeping. After their depredations the negroes returned to their garrison.

The battalion at Fort Brown is composed of Companies B, C and D, Twenty-fifth infantry.

Representations have been made to the Governor and a request made that the negroes be removed immediately to avoid further trouble.

All to Go to One Post.

Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 14.—It was stated at Fort Leavenworth to-day that plans were being perfected to have all colored troops in the United States army stationed at one post because of race feeling that exists at many points where both white and colored soldiers are stationed. It is said that a Southern post probably will be selected for the colored troops.

DESPERATE NEGRO IN CONTROL OF TRAIN.

With Two Pistols He Forces Trainmen to Obey His Orders Implicitly.

Decatur, Ala., Aug. 14.—A Louisville and Nashville freight train reached here from Birmingham to-day practically under the control of a desperate negro. At the point of two revolvers the trainmen were compelled to obey the negro's instructions as to where the train should stop and at what speed the engineer should regulate his engine from Newcastle to this place, a distance of sixty-five miles. By threats to kill the first man attempting to molest him, he sent the train through to New Decatur, where, by a ruse of the engineer, the train was sent into the shop yard, and with the assistance of five men the negro was captured. It is believed he is wanted for some crime and adopted this method to escape.

DEFENDANTS ON THE STAND

Deny Complicity In Marcum Murder.

Smith Fails to Make a Confession.

French Admonished by the Court.

ALEX HARGIS TESTIFIES.

Beattyville, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The trial of B. F. French, John Abner and John Smith, charged with complicity in the murder of James B. Marcum, is fast drawing to a close, and it is likely that the arguments in the case will begin Wednesday afternoon.

The three defendants and Jim and Alex Hargis and Ed Callahan were on the stand to-day, and while their evidence was voluminous, it was an oft told tale, having been a repetition of that given by them at former trials. With his fluent talk and every ready tongue, French is perhaps the most remarkable witness ever heard on a witness stand, and it was necessary for the court to admonish him several times during his examination to-day, and on two occasions it was necessary to threaten punishment, to keep him in line and preveht him from giving testimony wholly foreign to the case.

French was always prepared with an answer to the questions of his counsel, and where an opportunity presented itself for him to cast reflections on those prosecuting him or the witnesses for the Commonwealth, he would endeavor to take advantage of it and had he not restrained himself when he did it is likely that he would have been sent to jail for contempt of court, as Judge Dorsey showed by his manner, on what proved to be his final warning, that he had grown tired of the witness' answers.

* * *

Denies Everything.

French made a complete denial of every allegation made against him by the Commonwealth and said the first time he had ever known that he was accused with complicity in the murder of Marcum was about the time of the filing of the damage suit against himself, the Hargises and Callahan in Winchester about a year after the assassination.

He denied having known or ever having heard of any plots formed by Hargis and Callahan to harm Marcum or any other man. He said he had never been in the office of Jim Hargis in Jackson with Mose Feltner, Tom White, John Abner and John Smith when such a plot was discussed, and said he had never known Tom White or Abner and Smith until the trial of Jett and White in Jackson for the killing of Marcum. French said he was employed by Mrs. Sarah J. Hagins, mother of Curtis Jett, to defend her son. This was a contradiction of the testimony given by Mrs. Hagins yesterday, when she said that she had never spoken to French about defending her son.

John Abner was on the witness stand at the opening of court this morning for cross-examination by Attorney Jouett. Abner denied all knowledge of a plot to kill Marcum and said he was never in a rock quarry near the Marcum home or with a posse searching for Marcum as detailed by Mose Feltner. He said he was in Jackson at the time referred to by Feltner, but engaged in no conspiracy. Abner's memory was poor on important events and dates, and it was impossible for him to recall the times he was in Jackson preceding the death of Marcum.

* * *

Smith a Disappointment.

Abner was followed on the stand by John Smith, and, while it has been said that Smith would likely make a full confession of the part he took in the alleged conspiracy, it was not forthcoming, as he, too, denied every allegation. It is said that members of the Smith family, including the mother and brother of the accused, have been here making an effort to get him to tell all he knows of the plot. Abner's memory was so bad that he could not recall a conversation he had with Attorney Jouett in Winchester during the damage suit or that he had talked with Alex. Hargis just before being placed on the witness stand in that trial. It will be shown by the Commonwealth on rebuttal that Abner was in the company of Alex. Hargis when he was called to the stand and that it was necessary to get a warrant for his arrest and have him brought into the court room by the Sheriff. When arrested on that occasion he was talking to Alex. Hargis, but to-day he could not remember the occurrence.

* * *

Hold a Night Session.

Judge Dorsey held a session of court to-night to permit the attorneys to argue several points of law regarding certain testimony to be introduced by the Commonwealth. He held that it would not be competent for the prosecution to show a conversation between Alex. Hargis and Mrs. Marcum in which Hargis informed Mrs. Marcum that her husband had better leave Jackson because his life would pay the penalty. The court held that this action on the part of Alex. Hargis, if true, did not show a conspiracy, but rather an effort to prevent such a thing. He said it would be competent for the prosecution to prove that John Abner knew the contents of the affidavits of James B. Marcum and Mose Feltner, which were published before the death of Marcum. The Commonwealth will introduce a number of witnesses from Clark county in rebuttal to impeach the character of B. F. French.

SECRETARY ROOT AT BUENOS AYRES.

He Is Guest at an Official Banquet and Recipient of Many Honors.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 14.—Despite a heavy downpour of rain immense crowds assembled at the docks this morning to witness the arrival of Secretary of State Root and his party, who were received by the Ministers of Marine and Foreign Affairs, accompanied by Mr. Beaupre, the American Minister, and his secretary. The visitors were heartily cheered along the line of the route to the palatial residence in the Avenue Alvear placed at their disposal by Dr. Liobet, which was crowded with spectators. The streets and almost every house were decorated with American flags.

To-night at 8:30 o'clock Mr. Root and his party arrived at Government House for an official banquet given by the President and to which the diplomatic corps and high officers of State only were invited. The scene was most brilliant, the staircase and banqueting hall presenting a picture of great splendor. The streets and public squares of the city were a mass of electric illuminations.

STREETS FLOODED.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY STORM IN EVANSVILLE.

Three Houses Wrecked and Several People Narrowly Escaped Drowning.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The storm that visited Evansville late this afternoon caused a property loss of probably $100,000. The streets were flooded and water filled the cellar of the powerhouse of the Street Car Company, and for two hours no street cars were running. Many of the factories were forced to close down because of their cellars being flooded, and telephone and telegraph service were badly crippled.

Three houses belonging to Charles Tharling in the lower end of the city, and occupied by four families, were partly wrecked. The cellars were flooded and the floors fell in. City Councilman Louis Bender, in assisting in the rescue of the families, fell in a cellar that was filled with ten feet of water and was almost drowned. John P. Leister rescued several women from a house that was standing in water, one of whom was his daughter, who fainted as she was being carried out. John Harrington, living on Walker street, arose from his sick bed and rescued his family of ten from a house, the floor of which was covered with water. Water stood in some of the streets two feet deep, and every fire engine in the city to-night is busy pumping out cellars.

Lightning struck the building occupied by the Evansville Courier and the structure was slightly damaged. Many washouts are reported along the various railroads entering the city.

PRIMARY OFF.

BILL CREATING NEW DISTRICT UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

No Nomination for Representative Until After Court of Appeals' Decision.

Morgantown, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—At a special term of the Butler Circuit Court, held here to-day to try the case of F. A. Anderson against S. M. Ragland and others, Judge M. Galloway granted a perpetual injunction enjoining the defendant as chairman of the Republican County Committee of Ohio. Butler and Edmondson, from holding a primary for the selection of a candidate for Representative in the said county composing the new legislative district created by the last Legislature under House Bill 216A. Judgment was rendered declaring the act unconstitutional and an appeal was granted, which will be prepared at once and filed for the coming September term of the Court of Appeals.

Judges W. M. Holt and George Du Relle, of Louisville, were present and represented the plaintiff and the defendants were represented by N. T. Howard and G. V. Willis, of this place.

THOUGHT INDICTMENT HAD BEEN DESTROYED.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—A warrant was issued to-day for the arrest of W. H. Vice, formerly coast passenger agent for the Union Pacific road. Three years ago Vice disappeared and an indictment charging him with the embezzlement of $10,000 was returned by a grand jury. It is said by the police that Vice went to Honduras and that following the conflagration of April last he returned here believing that the indictment against him had been burned.

DEMOCRATS AT DALLAS

State Convention Promises To Be Exciting.

Senator Bailey Addresses the Delegates.

Evokes Applause by Reference to Bryan.

MUCH BALLOTING PROBABLE.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14.—With 700 delegates, the number being limited by law, and more than 4,000 spectators, what promises to be the most exciting State convention ever held by the Democracy of Texas since 1892, when the party split and nominated James S. Hogg and George Clark for Governor, opened today. The first session was devoted to the usual preliminaries of effecting temporary organization. Judge Joseph E. Cockrell, of Dallas, being named as temporary chairman.

The first ballot for Governor hardly will be taken before to-morrow afternoon, and because of the division of strength among the first candidates and the peculiar naming system, it is expected that each ballot will consume several hours.

* * *

Campbell in Lead.

In the recent primary T. M. Campbell, formerly a prominent railroad man, received 32 per cent. of the votes cast for Governor; M. M. Brooks, a Judge of the Criminal Court of Appeals, 24 per cent.; O. B. Colquitt, a member of the State Railway Commission, 23 per cent. and former Congressman C. K. Bell, 22 per cent.

The popular plurality does not determine the result, however. The law allows each county a vote in the convention for each 300 votes cast in such county for the party nominee for Governor two years ago, and declares that said vote shall be pro rated to the candidates by counties in proportion to the votes they received in the primaries. It makes a majority of the convention votes necessary to a nomination, and provides that where a majority does not appear upon a ballot, the candidate having the lowest number of votes shall be dropped, whereupon the delegates may transfer the vote previously instructed for such candidate to other candidates.

Although it is known that the Brooks vote will be emancipated at the end of the first ballot, peculiar conditions make trading almost impossible and efforts at combinations seem thus far to have failed.

* * *

Senator Bailey Speaks.

United States Senators Culberson and Bailey, both supported Brooks. To-day, as has become customary at State conventions, the delegates and spectators clamored for Senatorial speeches. Senator Culberson was not present, but Senator Bailey responded. He received an ovation and spoke during the remainder of the session. He praised the man whom he had supported for Governor, but as upon former occasions, declared that as much could be said of the other candidates for that place. In that connection he took notice of criticisms that have been heard within the past few days of "Senatorial bossism," and declared that it was not bossism for a citizen to announce his preference of a candidate, but it was bossism to try to prevent others from registering their will. The remainder of his speech mostly concerned the prospects for the national triumph of Democratic principals, which he declared were excellent. He said that it has already been determined whom the nominee would be, meaning Mr. Bryan, which declaration evoked wild applause. During his speech Senator Bailey related the story of the siege of Lucknow and repeated the quotation "Hold out a little while longer; the Campbells are coming."

This the audience interpreted to mean that he was confirming the report that with the dropping of his man, his vote and influence would go to Campbell. The cheering lasted for three minutes.

HETTIE GREEN'S SON

Nominated for Governor by Republican Reorganizers.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 14.—The faction of the Republican party of Texas known as the "reorganizers" to-day held its State Convention here. E. H. R. Green, of Terrell, president of the Texas Midland railroad, and son of Mrs. Hettie Green, of New York, was nominated for Governor, and J. C. Gibbons, formerly Mayor of Paris, Tex., for Lieutenant Governor. The resolutions adopted strongly commend the National Administration and denounce Cecil A. Lyon, who is the regular State chairman and Republican National Committeeman for Texas. Col. Lyon is held to be a dictator who is seeking to disrupt the party in Texas and to arrogate to himself all power.

The platform dealt with national and State issues along the usual lines.

The Committee on Reorganization submitted a lengthy plan, in effect declaring that the Texas party had been led astray by those who should have guarded its interests and that the time had come when it must be placed upon its proper basis. The delegates to the convention and those they represented are pledged to this work, and all Republicans are invited to join in the movement.

There was considerable enthusiasm when the name of W. H. Taft, Secretary of War, was mentioned.

A State Executive Committee was organized, with A. W. Acheson, of Denison, as chairman. W. M. McDonald, colored, of Terrell, was named as National Committeeman, and will contest the right of Cecil A. Lyon to the place.

Texas Prohibitionists.

Terrell, Texas, Aug. 14.—The Prohibition State convention, after adopting the usual resolutions in regard to liquor traffic, nominated the following ticket:

Governor, J. W. Pearson, of Boyd; Lieutenant Governor, Thomas Brown, of Beaumont; Attorney General, J. M. Russell, of Amarilla; Controller, J. P. Crouch, of McKinney; State Treasurer, L. J. Winters, of Austin; Commissioner General Land Office, H. L. Winchell, of Cisco; Superintendent of Public Instruction, George B. Ely, of Odessa; Railroad Commissioner, H. L. Andrews, of Dallas.

HIS REASONS IN DETAIL

FOR RESIGNING FROM DEMOCRATIC SUBCOMMITTEE.

M'QUOWN SAYS RULES ADOPTED MAY BE WISER,

BUT NOT ACCORDING TO LAW.

Chairman Lewis McQuown, of the Democratic State Committee, was in the city last night and he gave to the Courier-Journal the following detailed reasons for his resigning as chairman of the State Subcommittee:

In your issue of the 13th inst. you published, in parallel columns, sections from the minority and majority reports submitted to the Executive Committee on the 11th inst., and stated that the adoption of the section in the majority report was the cause of my resignation.

In view of the fact that you consider it important to notice the cause of my resignation at all, I deem it proper to say that in doing this you have only told half the truth. I therefore crave a little space while I state all the truth.

First—In the first place Rule 3, which you have printed, does not require the candidates to submit to the County Committee lists from which to select the officers, but simply provides that in cases where they shall furnish such lists, the officers shall be chosen from them.

The law, and the rule I proposed, provides that these lists shall be furnished to "the committee holding the primary," and from these lists the officers shall be chosen by that committee.

Again this rule allows the County Committees to appoint the election officers. The rule I offered, and the law, provides for their appointment by the Executive Committee.

Second—The rules adopted provide that the officers holding the election at each precinct shall certify the result to the County Committee, and that these committees shall canvass the returns.

The law, and the rules I offered, provide that the precinct officers shall certify the result to the Executive Committee, and that that committee shall canvass the returns.

Third—It will be seen that there is a flagrant violation of the law in the adoption of these rules. The duty, under the law, of appointing the officers of the election and canvassing the returns is imposed upon the "committee holding the primary," which, of course, is the Executive Committee.

The Executive Committee is stripped of this authority, and the power conferred upon it by the plain language of the law is lodged in the County Committees without legal warrant therefor. This may be wiser and better, but it seemed to me best to follow the law and not hold a primary election where the persons composing the County Committees appoint the officers of the election and canvass the returns without lawful authority to act.

A similar number of unsworn reputable citizens, in each county, might appoint the officers of the general election and canvass the returns fairly. But the law lodges the power elsewhere, and if such an innovation and disregard of the law should be attempted, it would be a nullity. So, it seems to me, will be the act of the County Committees under the rules contained in the majority report.

It was for these reasons—the appointment of the officers and the canvassing of the returns by a wholly illegal body—that I resigned my place as chairman of the subcommittee. LEWIS M'QUOWN.

STILL IN CUSTODY.

ALEXANDER CHISOLM UNABLE TO GIVE BOND.

Disclosures Cause Strong Feeling Against Brokerage Houses in Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 14.—Alexander R. Chisolm, paying teller of the First National Bank, who yesterday confessed to the theft of $97,000 from that institution, is still in the custody of Federal officials, being so far unable to make the $55,000 bond fixed by Commissioner Watts.

The books of two well-known cotton and stock exchanges were taken in charge by United States deputies and will be used in the prosecution of the case against Chisolm and against W. L. Sims and C. M. Hayes, commission men, who are also under bond, charged with aiding and abetting in the embezzlement. A warrant has been issued for P. G. Smith, manager of another commission house, who is now in the East on a pleasure trip.

The feeling against cotton and stock exchanges, where it is alleged Chisolm lost the stolen money, has become so pronounced that sixteen out of eighteen Aldermen of Birmingham to-day announced their determination to vote at to-morrow night's session of the City Council against the issuance of licenses to any commission house dealing in futures in the city of Birmingham. The proposed new ordnance is to go into effect October 1.

PREPARING FOR FINISH FIGHT

Sullivan Rents All Rooms at Peoria.

Will Run Special Train to Convention.

Hearst Arrives to Take Hand In Fight.

LABOR AFTER LITTLEFIELD.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic National Committeeman, whom William Jennings Bryan has ordered out of the party, has won the first skirmish by grabbing all the available rooms at Peoria in preparation for the State Convention. The Bryan and Hearst factions will have to sleep on cots and hold their conferences in halls and saloons. There is every indication of a hot fight at the convention. Sullivan will take his forces, about 600 handy men, to Peoria on a special train, and there will be strenuous doings if the other factions start anything rough.

William Randolph Hearst arrived today and is engineering the opposition forces, but his influence is waning in the Middle West. Democrats from down the State say the belief is general there that Bryan made a mistake in letting himself be used by the enemies of Sullivan to precipitate an unnecessary fight.

Democratic State headquarters at the Sherman House was a lively place today, for the leaders of the Sullivan faction were in session planning to checkmate the schemes of the Dunlap-Rainey-Thompson wing to get control of the Peoria convention. Roger Sullivan declared that the situation warranted the prediction that his enemies will have little cause for glee when the State Convention adjourns.

One incident which delighted the Sullivan managers was the arrival in Chicago of William B. Brinton with a choice selection of caustic criticisms of Mr. Bryan. Brinton is an old-line Democrat, who was United States Marshal under Cleveland, and has been on the State Committee for many years.

"It is my opinion that Mr. Bryan has made a frightful blunder in mixing in the Illinois fight," said Brinton.

"Will he be indorsed at the State Convention?" was asked.

"Oh, I suppose so, but if I had my way about it he wouldn't be," replied Brinton.

LABOR'S FIRST BIG GUN.

Samuel Gompers to Speak in Mr. Littlefield's District.

Washington, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Labor is preparing to fire its big gun in Congressman Littlefield's district Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will deliver his first speech in that district Saturday. He will leave here Thursday for Maine, and will spend one week in the Second Congressional district of the Pine Tree State. After speaking in Lewiston next Saturday he will go to Rumford Falls, where he is to speak Monday night, August 20. Tuesday night he will make an address to the labor unions at Livermore Falls; Wednesday at Bath; Thursday at Waldoboro; Friday at Rockland, and Saturday at Vinal Haven.

President Gompers will also make short noonday talks to the workingmen. He has received numerous letters from labor leaders, assuring him of large and enthusiastic crowds. Information received from Maine at the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor, is that the labor unions in the Second Congressional district of Maine are as one against the re-election of Littlefield, and the announcement that Mr. Cannon is to speak in Littlefield's district, has, it is said at labor headquarters, spurred the unions to concerted action.

The American Federation of Labor, it was said to-day, will not make public any blacklist of Congressmen, but will furnish the State Committees with the names and records of all Congressmen who have been condemned by the American Federation of Labor. This will be more effective, it is claimed, than making public the list of names of Congressmen whom the Federation regards as inimical to the cause of labor.

GAVIN NOMINATED

For Congress by Democrats in Indianapolis District.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Democratic convention for this district to-day nominated Judge Frank E. Gavin for Congress over Edgar E. Perkins, president of the State Federation of Labor, by a vote of 141½ to 90½ for Perkins. The party leaders, while decreeing Perkins' defeat, arranged for him to have a large complimentary vote in the convention by permitting several labor delegations to be selected at the primaries. Henry N. Spaan presided and in his address eulogized both Bryan and President Roosevelt and the encomiums were received with cheers. He declared that the President is more honest than the Republican leaders and has given a foretaste of what can be done when the people are aroused and an honest man is in office.

BRYAN DEMONSTRATION

In Hall of the Georgia House of Representatives.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 14.—An impromptu Bryan demonstration occurred in the hall of the House of Representatives last night when former Federal Judge Blount, recently returned from the Philippines, on invitation addressed members of the Legislature on the subject of self-government for the Filipinos. During the address he quoted the speech of Senator Bailey, who said there was not enough money in the country to prevent Bryan from becoming President and "I pray to God the Senator's prediction will be fulfilled."

An outbreak of handclapping and cheers ensued from the speakers and auditors followed and continued for several minutes. Judge Blount was emphatic in his declaration that the Filipinos are fully as capable of self-government as the Cubans.

WILL VISIT AUSTRALIA.

Mr. Bryan Expects to Start After November Election.

Paris, Aug. 14.—William J. Bryan confirms the report from Melbourne that he intends to visit Australia. He says he will start immediately after the November election, sailing from San Francisco and making a tour of New Zealand as well as Australia. He will be gone ten weeks and travel alone. His itinerary is not yet definitely decided upon.

It was expected that Mr. Bryan would see President Fallieres to-day, but the foreign office sent him a most courteous note saying that the President deeply regretted the fact that Mr. Bryan's stay in Paris was so short that it did not permit the time for Mr. Fallieres to return from Rambouillet in order to receive such a distinguished citizen.

For Roosevelt in 1908.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 14.—The Republican congressional convention of the Tenth district unanimously nominated Harry B. Anderson for Congress to-day. It went on record with a demand upon Theodore Roosevelt to become the Republican candidate for President again in 1908, declaring him to be the prophet of the party and incidentally severely criticised the policy of the Democratic party in Tennessee.

Fusion Prospects Favorable.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 14.—Prospects seem good for fusion between Nebraska Democrats and Populists, both of whom will hold their State convention here to-morrow. The conventions will meet simultaneously, but in different buildings. It is a foregone conclusion that the Democrats will give the heartiest indorsement of Bryan as a presidential nominee and it is possible the Populists may declare for him also.

New Party in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 14.—I. M. York, a professor of economy in Leland Stanford University for several years, issued a call yesterday by which he hopes to organize a new political party in this State, to be known as the Kansas Co-operative Club. The party, it is intended, will not make a campaign until 1908, the intervening time being spent in getting the organization perfected throughout the State.

Longworth Contributes.

New York, Aug. 14.—Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, was a visitor to-day at the headquarters of the National Republican Congressional Campaign Committee. He deposited one dollar as his contribution to the campaign fund.

Lee Mantle a Candidate.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 14.—Former United States Senator Lee Mantle, of Butte, to-day announced his candidacy for United States Senator.

WOULD PRACTICALLY ABOLISH SHAH'S POWER.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 14.—According to private advices received here to-day from Teheran the complete demands of the Progressives far surpass the scope of the reforms proposed by the Government. These demands involve the practical abolition of all the real power of the Shah, leaving him only a figurehead, and even proposes the abrogation of the socalled "Divine law," on which his power is based.

REFUSAL TO PAY FARE RESULTS IN ARREST.

Patrick Harnett Spends Night in Jail After Trouble on Preston-Street Car.

Because Patrick Hartnett, living at 2040 Preston street, refused to pay his fare on a northbound Preston-street car he is now sojourning in jail on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. At about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Hartnett boarded a Preston-street car, which was in charge of Edward Gunter, motorman, and Lee Price, conductor, at Preston and Oak streets. When the conductor demanded the fare from him he refused to pay. An altercation ensued and, after many threats, which had no effect on Hartnett, the conductor attempted to put him off of the car. Hartnett resisted strenuously and, it is alleged, drew a knife and slashed at Price several times. Price escaped without a scratch, but various parts of his coat were cut. The conductor tried to control Hartnett, but was unable to do so and the motorman went to his assistance, dealing Hartnett a hard blow, knocking him off the car.

Hartnett was arrested by Patrolmen Reiss and Barrett, who noticed that he had sustained several bruises about the body. They had him taken to the City Hospital, where his injuries, which are not of a serious nature, were dressed. Later he was removed to the jail.

THOMAS S. SKAGGS HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Henry F. Cassin, United States Commissioner, returned yesterday from Lebanon where he conducted the examining trials of four prisoners, charged with violating the Internal Revenue laws.

Thomas S. Skaggs, who is charged with operating an illicit distillery, was held in $500 bond to answer to the Federal grand jury. Failing to furnish bond he was brought to Louisville and lodged in the Jefferson county jail.

William Etherton, William Thompson and E. Y. Hall, charged with retailing liquor without a Government license, were dismissed.

Temperance Entertainment.

The Clifton and Crescent Hill Prohibition Alliance will give what the president, H. W. Davis, styles a temperance entertainment at the Clifton Baptist church, Frankfort and Bellaire avenues, at 8 o'clock to-morrow night. The programme will consist of brief orations, songs and recitations. The invitation is open to everyone and it has been announced that no collection will be taken.

PARADE TO-DAY.

Fifteen Thousand Men Will Be In Line.

REUNIONS OF VARIOUS G. A. R. REGIMENTS.

FIGHT FOR COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF IS BITTER.

TWO MORE VETERANS DIE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 14.—Despite a somewhat hot and sultry day, the reunions of the various regiments planned for to-day were carried through with great success.

There was not a floor in any of the hotels nor a hall in the city which did not hold the survivors of some organization that was in the field during the war. Some of the gatherings were largely attended, but others were confined to not more than a half dozen of the original regimental members. The reunions in the majority of cases did not last for any length of time, and the veterans were soon on their way to visit some of the points of interest about the city. Receptions were also held by members of the ladies of the Grand Army, the Women's Relief Corps and other organizations of a similar character, all of them keeping open house throughout the day. The feature of the evening was a large camp fire held in the auditorium which packed the structure to its utmost capacity. Addresses were made by Gov. Johnson, Commander-in-Chief Tanner, R. Brown, of Zanesville, O., a candidate for the honor of being the next Commander of the Grand Army, and a number of others.

Two more members of the Grand Army died to-day, making three who have passed away since the commencement of the present encampment, J. H. Burke, of Burlingame, Kan., fell dead while standing in front of the clerk's desk in the Pauley Hotel. Death was caused by apoplexy, induced by the heat of the day. The other death was that of George H. Smith, a former member of the First New York Dragoons, who had been visiting relatives in the city for some time. Mr. Smith was knocked down by a horse which was driven rapidly around a corner just as he was about to take a street car. He was removed to a hospital, but died in a short time of concussion of the brain.

The fight for Commander-in-Chief became active and bitter to-day. Many copies of a circular attacking the war record of Capt. J. H. Coney, of Kansas, a prominent candidate, were handed around. The circular was not signed, and Capt. Coney declared that the attack was so utterly baseless as to be almost beneath his notice. He contented himself by giving it a simple denial and referring all persons who desired information as to his war record to the history of the One Hundred and Eleventh New York infantry.

It is the intention of the members of the Ladies of the Grand Army to offer a resolution in the business meeting of the Grand Army urging the purchase of the McClean House at Appomatox for the purpose of converting it into a national museum. It is said that the plan has met with favor on the part of the Confederate veterans, who have offered to aid in the project. Miss Nellie Underwood and Mrs. Belknap, Ladies of the Grand army, are pushing the plan.

To-morrow the great parade is to be held, and a holiday will be declared throughout the city. It is expected that about 15,000 men will be in line. The parade is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock, and the line of march will be about two miles in length.

OBJECTED TO CONTRACT GOING TO UNZ & SON

MR. THOMPSON QUESTIONED LEGALITY OF AWARD.

SCHOOL BOARD AGREES TO PURCHASE DODSON LOT.

COST NOT TO EXCEED $1,200.

When the report of the Committee on Salaries and Supplies was read at the special meeting of the Louisville School Board last night, recommending that John Unz & Son be awarded the contract for furnishing janitors' supplies, Philip B. Thompson, a member of the board, objected on the ground that Louis Unz, a member of the firm, is also a member of the lower board of the General Council, and therefore should not be allowed to make a bid on supplies to be furnished the School Board. Mr. Thompson also called attention to the fact that the board had experienced trouble with the firm of John Unz & Son on a former occasion. When a vote was taken on the matter Mr. Thompson asked that he be excused from voting. The remaining seven members of the board present voted in favor of the report.

There were eight members of the Louisville School Board present at the special meeting held last night. Those members who failed to attend the meeting were J. B. Atkinson, Dr. J. W. Galvin, S. Moore, James Norton, Dr. Clarence T. Pope and Edward W. Wolfe. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 o'clock, and the board was in session just one hour.

In opposing the awarding of the contract for janitors' supplies to John Unz & Son, Mr. Thompson said that the board members should remember that they had experienced trouble with Mr. Unz over a previous contract for supplies that was awarded him.

"I have my doubts as to whether Unz & Son are legal bidders," he said. "If I am not mistaken, Louis Unz is a member of the lower board of the General Council."

The report of the Building Committee, recommending the purchase of the C. S. Dodson lot, southeast of and adjoining the Male and Training High School, at a cost not to exceed $1,200, and the awarding of the contract for calcium lining to be used in the Gavin H. Cochran School to Thomas H. Brocar, whose bid was $700, was concurred in. After a brief argument, it was decided to build the proposed new foundry on the Dodson lot, and to convert the present foundry building into a chapel.

A motion made by Trustee Philip B. Thompson, calling upon the Secretary of the School Board to advertise for bids for floor dressing, subject to the approval of the Board of Fire Underwriters, was adopted. Mr. Thompson explained that some brands of floor-dressing are very inflammable, and that for that reason the Board of Fire Underwriters should be allowed to pass on the kind of floor-dressing to be used in the Louisville schools.

WILL INVESTIGATE ASYLUM MANAGEMENT.

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Board of Trustees of the Southern Indiana Insane Asylum at Woodmere is to be asked to investigate charges against the management of the institution made by a young woman of Huntingburg, near here. The charges are contained in a letter written by the young woman to her father, who has placed the matter in the hands of S. H. Wulfman, of Huntingburg, a member of the board. Mr. Wulfman will present the charges to the board at its next meeting. The complaints are directed against the food furnished to the attendants and inmates.

RAIN AT CAMP.

First Kentucky Has Only One Drill.

MEN LOOKING FORWARD TO GOVERNOR'S VISIT.

EAGERLY AWAIT COMING OF THE PAYMASTER.

MAY HAVE SHAM BATTLE.

Camp Harris, Henderson, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—This was a quiet day at Camp Harris. The regular drills, with the exception of the company drill, were abandoned by order of Col. Haldeman, owing to the heavy downpour of rain which lasted nearly all day. Guard mount, however, was had. By the time for dress parade this afternoon the rain had ceased for a while, and this pretty maneuver was executed without the soldier boys being dampened.

Companies B and C went to the rifle range this afternoon. Both companies failed to finish their target practice on account of the rain, and the scores and prizes will be announced to-morrow.

The members of the camp are enjoying good health except in one instance, that being C. B. Caplinger, a private of Company H. While up in the city late this afternoon he was seized with a fainting speel and fell on Main street. Several of his companions and bystanders went to his assistance and took him to Dr. C. B. Graham's office, where he was resuscitated. The ambulance was telephoned for and Caplinger was taken to the hospital at Camp Harris. The cause of his sudden illness is said to have been due to overexertion and late hours on guard duty.

Visit of the Governor.

The members of the regiment are looking forward to two events, the paymaster on Thursday and Gov. Beckham on Friday. Col. Mervin Parrent will act as paymaster. Brig. Gen. Rodger D. Williams will arrive Thursday and inspect the regiment.

The order covering the arrival of the Governor and the inspection was issued as follows:

A general inspection of the First infantry will be held by Gen. Roger D. Williams, commanding First brigade Kentucky State Guard on Thursday morning, August 16, 1906. Every article of equipment and clothing, the cleanliness of all quarters and the sanitary condition of kitchens, mess halls, stables and sinks will be thoroughly inspected and reported by Gen. Williams.

A review of the First infantry will be held by Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, commander-in-chief, on Friday afternoon, August 17, 1906. The First infantry, Col. W. B. Haldeman commanding, will march to the Union Station in time to meet the 12:45 train from Louisville in chase of the McClean House at Appomatox for the purpose of converting it into a national museum. It is said that the plan has met with favor on the part of the Confederate veterans, who have offered to aid in the project. Miss Nellie Underwood and Mrs. Belknap, Ladies of the Grand army, are pushing the plan.

Special orders, No. 51.

By command of Gov. Beckham, Henry R. Lawrence, Adjt. Gen.

Capt. John M. Sanders, of Company B, is designated as officer of the day; Senior Officer of the Guard, Capt. J. J. Davis; Junior Officer of the Guard, Lieut. Green.

The concerts of the First Regiment Band are much appreciated and by consent of Col. Haldeman a concert will be given in Central Park, this city, tomorrow evening.

Settle Down to Business.

The population of Camp Harris has settled down to regular business under the new routine which was promulgated by Col. Haldeman last evening. Though the weather is threatening the boys seem to be enjoying the outing and the work. A number of the younger members of the First Kentucky were novices at soldiering, but they learned on Monday how to handle the spade, shovel and the ax.

The first regimental parade was witnessed by about 4,000 visitors, who were much pleased. Company B went into target range at 8 o'clock this morning. Each man is allowed two sight shots at the target at all three distances before he shoots in the competition, and then they are allowed ten shots at the three distances. Company B completed its work about noon and will, the weather permitting, be followed by Company C, and so will continue until all the companies compete.

In Company A's shoot on Monday Capt. Neville Bullitt made a good score which led the company for several hours.

The health of the camp is good, and Surgeon General McCormick is using due diligence and precaution to keep it that way.

Capt. R. J. McBryde is making good as Regimental Adjutant, and has made a great hit with his megaphone voice which was applauded by the many in attendance.

Col. Haldeman is much in favor and makes a fine commanding officer. Many prominent citizens are daily visitors to his tent and to Gen. Lawrence at general headquarters.

There is some talk of a sham battle to be held on Friday, but as yet it has not taken definite form.

"KENTUCKY BELLES" MEET GOV. FRANCIS.

THE LATTER MOVED TO DANCE A JIG.

OTHER FORMER RESIDENTS OF THIS STATE ON SHIP.

TWO OF THEM WIDOWERS.

Cologne, Tuesday—[Special Cable.]—Old Kentucky had a reunion of her sons and daughters yesterday aboard the steamship Kaiser Augusta Victoria which conveyed the Courier-Journal's "Kentucky belles" from Biebrich to Cologne. In addition to thirty girls, there were also from the Bluegrass regions David R. Francis, former Governor of Missouri; S. M. Felton, president of the Chicago and Alton railroad; L. D. Dozier and Breckinridge Jones, of St. Louis. All these men at some time or other hailed from Kentucky. When the belles arrived at Biebrich from Wiesbaden, Gov. Francis was discovered on the bridge of the ship dancing a jig, and in other ways manifesting pleasure at seeing young women from America. Shortly after revealing his identity he introduced his friends and explained that Messrs. Dozier and Jones were widowers, heart whole, and fancy free. The announcement nearly caused a riot. There was a whirlwind rush of the thirty girls, who surrounded the two men and almost swept them into the Rhine.

POLICEMEN PRESENT THEMSELVES BEFORE JUDGE JOHN McCANN

Cases Following Blocking of Avenue Theater Doors Continued Until Friday.

Charged with disorderly conduct, thirteen policemen presented themselves before Judge John McCann yesterday morning, and on motion of Judge A. E. Richards, City Attorney, their cases were continued until Friday morning. Judge Richards gave as a reason for asking for a continuance that he had not had time to prepare the defense. The specific charge against the thirteen policemen is that of having interfered with persons who sought to gain admittance to the Avenue Theater Sunday afternoon and night.

Scott Bullitt, attorney for Charles A. Shaw, manager of the playhouse, appeared in Police Court early yesterday morning. He carried many books in his arms, and was followed by Manager Shaw, the members of the company playing at the Avenue Theater this week, and a dozen or more persons who were refused admittance to the theater Sunday. Most of these are to testify as witnesses at the trial of the cases. The thirteen policemen occupied chairs behind the railing in front of Judge McCann, and smiled.

When Judge Richards asked for a continuance of the cases, Mr. Bullitt suggested that the trial be postponed until Thursday only. He argued that two days should be ample time for a preparation of the defense. Judge McCann announced that the cases against the policemen would take the same course as all other cases that come before him, and that as it was the first time the cases had been called, he would have to grant the continuance until Friday.

Judge A. E. Richards, following the dismissal of the cases, said that he had advised the members of the Board of Public Safety that it was just as much the duty of a police officer to prevent the commission of an offense, as it is to arrest after the offense is committed. He held that the police officers, in taking the action they did Sunday, simply were obeying the instructions of the board.

Continuing, Judge Richards said that when one is engaged in the operation of a theater as a business on Sunday, it is a plain violation of the letter of the law. He said the managers of the Avenue Theater had advertised their intention to commit the offense.

The policemen arraigned were: Capt. James Hendricks, Capt. Samuel Owens, Patrolmen Larry Dundon, John Doran, Jacob Wehrle, James Collins, William Carter, Jack Dolan, George Sigel, W. C. Blankenbaker, George Gay, Edward Klink and Michael Devanney.

THOUSANDS OF OO-OO BIRDS FURNISH FEATHERS OF A LEI

Queer Wreaths Worn by Hawaiian Musicians at Fontaine Ferry Park Are Insignia of Royalty.

The significance of the yellow wreaths or loops worn by the members of the Royal Hawaiian Band at Fontaine Ferry Park this week has aroused as much interest almost as the superb playing of the band itself. Each of the musicians wears one of the curious strands while the concerts are in progress. They are called leis and originally were supposed to be worn by Hawaiian royalty only. The band being at one time the court band of the islands, and still retaining the name "Royal," is permitted to wear the insignia.

There is, however, only one real lei, or wreath, in the party, and that is worn by Miss Lei Lehua, the soprano soloist. The leis worn by the others are made of paper or muslin, while that of Miss Lehua is made of the feathers of the oo-oo bird and is of priceless value. She is a decendent of the royal house of Hawaii and, according to the carefully preserved traditions of the islanders is entitled to wear the real lei, while for any other to wear it would be something akin to sacrilege.

The oo-oo bird is a small specimen of a family of birds found only in the Hawaiian Islands. There is just one tiny yellow feather under each wing of every bird and out of these the leis of the royal family were made. It required tens of thousands of the feathers, or the capture of half as many birds, to make a single lei and the wreaths were naturally of priceless value to the owners of the ornaments.

AUTOMATIC BRAKE WILL SAVE LIFE

INVENTED BY W. R. GARDNER, OF LOS ANGELES.

SAYS IT WILL WORK ON ELECTRIC AND STEAM CARS.

WORKING OF THE APPLIANCE.

Believing that there is a growing public demand for something which will prevent the loss of human life, which is being chronicled day by day all over the world where electric and steam cars are operated, William R. Gardner, of Los Angeles, Cal., who is spending a few weeks in Louisville, has invented an automatic brake and life guard, which may be applied to the ordinary electric or steam car, and which, if it does the work claimed for it by the inventor, should, when adopted, greatly minimize accidents, which now, in a great many instances, are attended with fatal results.

Mr. Gardner is an expert mechanic and a son of William G. Gardner, of Kentucky, who invented the first separating threshing machine. The life-saving appliance which he has invented is not dependent upon air, electricity or hand power. The application of the brake is simple, and requires but a grip from the person in charge of the motive power. When applied to a trolley car, a small lever at the right hand of the motorman releases the fender brake. That the appliance will stop an electric car within a few feet on any grade, no matter how much headway the car has gained, is the claim set up by the inventor. Mr. Gardner claims that he can apply his brake with the touch of a hand while the car is running either fast or slow. He says if the motors are turned on at full force and continue to run after the car has been brought to a stop, it would be impossible for the car to proceed another inch until the brake had been released.

Roughly outlined, the Gardner brake works in this manner: The brake proper consists of a series of flanged steel track shoes, which, when applied, fall to the rail, the forward wheel of each set of trucks instantly rides on the brake in such a manner that the wheel is above and free from the track, and a greater portion of the weight of the heavy motor and car above it is thrown upon the track shoe, thus creating a friction which must stop the car within a few inches or feet, according to the momentum of the car when the brake is applied. If the motorman does not or cannot shut off the power, and the motors continue to run, the wheels will revolve harmlessly upon the track shoe, even after the car has come to a stop.

The steel track shoe is not unlike a sled runner in appearance. At the forward end it is turned slightly upward, with a view to riding over rough joints and small obstructions. This forward end of the brake is what forms the fender, cross bars or slats running across from one track shoe to the other. Normally these track shoes will ride a few inches from the rail. When applied, the shoes fall to the rail, and by the movement of the car are carried backward a few inches, when the wheel rides the shoe, and the tremendous friction thus created will stop the car. In cases of collision, the impact with any heavy body will automatically apply the brake.

The inventor claims that a feature of the brake which has appealed strongly to railway men who have seen the disastrous effects of the fact that it would stop a car which had become derailed even quicker on the street surface or roadbed than if the car remained on the rails.

Mr. Gardner claims that his is a brake which would have the confidence of the motormen. But few motormen, he asserts, are expert electricians or understand the intricate working of air brakes. Any motorman could master the working of the Gardner brake in a few minutes' study.

Mr. Gardner during the past few months has visited several of the larger cities for the purpose of interesting capital in his invention. He has met with much encouragement, he says, and has come to Louisville expecting to meet with similar success.

LIGHTING FRANCHISE TO BE SOLD FRIDAY

UNLESS JOHN STITES SECURES RESTRAINING ORDER.

SUIT WAS FILED IN COURT SEVERAL DAYS AGO.

THE UPSET PRICE IS $20,000.

Unless a restraining order is asked for by John Stites, through his attorneys, within the next forty-eight hours, it is altogether probable that the lighting franchise, created by the passage of the Atherton-Jones ordinance, will be sold at auction to the highest bidder on the steps of the City Hall Friday at noon.

Mr. Stites, who recently filed an injunction suit in the Circuit Court, setting forth that the proposed sale of the franchise would be invalid, in that the provisions of the proposed sale are such that the Louisville Lighting Company may not bid on the franchise, is out of the city, and, consequently could not be seen yesterday relative to what step he will take in the matter. He will probably return home to-day, and it may be that he will then ask for a temporary injunction, prohibiting the sale of the franchise Friday.

Capt. John H. Weller, a member of the Board of Public Works, when asked yesterday whether the sale of the franchise would be made Friday at noon as advertised, replied that he had received no notice to the contrary.

Provided Mr. Stites does not ask for a temporary injunction, it is likely there will be quite a number of bidders when the franchise is offered for sale Friday. Many inquiries relative to the proposed sale have been received from capitalists outside the city. The upset price, fixed by the General Council, is $20,000. No bid less than this amount will be considered. The bidding will likely be spirited.

John M. Stites, who is connected with the Louisville Lighting Company, has taken the stand that the city has no right to discriminate against his company in the matter of accepting bids. In case he does not ask for a temporary injunction, the injunction suit which he has already filed will likely not come up for a hearing until some time in September.

It is possible that he may then take the stand that the sale of the franchise was illegal, and ask that it be set aside.

REVIEW OF TROOPS

WANTED BY THE CITIZENS OF INDIANAPOLIS.

President Places the Matter Before the War Department, Which Will Pass Upon It.

Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—In response to a telegram sent by Mayor Charles A. Bookwalter, of Indianapolis, several days ago to the secretary to the President, William Loeb, Jr., at Oyster Bay, N. Y., asking for an interview and explaining in the message the wish of the people of Indianapolis and surrounding towns for a general review of the troops in camp at the fort, including the regulars and Indiana National Guard, which are at present at the comp of instruction, Mayor Bookwalter to-day received the following reply:

Honorable Charles A. Bookwalter: Your telegram received and placed before the President, who has directed the War Department, if practicable, to arrange as you desire.

WILLIAM LOEB, Jr.

Mayor Bookwalter had a conference with Gen. Carter, in command of Fort Benjamin Harrison, to-day, but the latter has not as yet received any instructions from the War Department. However, it is thought such instructions will be received within a few days. The entire expenses attendant upon bringing the soldiers to the city for the review will be born by the citizens of Indianapolis.

To-day the Indiana troops were put through close and extended order drills and road and advance guard work.

Miss Maty Shaver, whom Miss Arnold succeeds as superintendent, has gone to Lexington where she has been made superintendent of nurses at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

STRONG CASE

Being Made Against Negro Prisoners.

MAN REPORTED SAYING WOMAN BEGAN STABBING.

TRIAL OF MRS. BROUGHTON'S ALLEGED MURDERERS.

NO COMPROMISE VERDICT.

Barbourville, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—It was the general report to-day that an effort was made last night to compromise the case of Jesse Fitzgerald, one of the negro murderers of Mrs. Martha Broughton, by which he was to plead guilty and take the chances of a life sentence. The prosecution, however, opposed this. Fitzgerald was placed on trial this morning.

At the opening of court to-day defendant's lawyer stated that the three most important witnesses were absent. No delay was occasioned, as the court sent for the witnesses. The four witnesses for the defense who were present were sworn in. The prosecution will introduce about twenty witnesses.

Commonwealth Attorney Lewis made the opening statement to the jury and read the indictment to the jury. The indictment charges Fitzgerald and the Henson woman with conspiring, aiding and abetting, and with being principal and accessory to the crime. Great emotion was displayed upon the reading of the indictment and the opening statements, and intense feeling was evident.

The prosecution will attempt to prove that Mrs. Broughton was murdered while in bed by the two negroes. The State will introduce the partial confession of both negroes.

Court was adjourned to-night without finishing the State's side of the case. The defense will introduce eight witnesses. The jury will be taken to the scene of the murder to Fighting creek. No arguments will be made in the case.

Sam Kash, of Corbin, Ky., gave strong evidence against the negroes. He said that Fitzgerald talked with him while on a train going to Stanford. He said the woman began stabbing Mrs. Broughton and that he finished the job. The witness said the Henson woman told him Fitzgerald threatened her with death and she told him where Broughton's money was to save her own life. The woman's statements testified to by Kash were not allowed to be heard by the jury. The Henson woman may not turn State's evidence. This has been expected. To-morrow will likely witness the end of the trial.

WILL CALL ON POWERS.

W. A. Young May Be Chief Counsel in the Case.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Hon. W. A. Young, of Morehead, was here to-day and in an interview regarding his being employed to defend Caleb Powers in his coming trial said that he had never refused or accepted a fee in the case, as he had never seen Powers. Mr. Young stated that he was practicing law for the money that was in it and was not in the habit of refusing large fees. It was learned this evening from a reliable source that Mr. Young would visit Powers to-morrow in regard to accepting a fee in his defense in which event he would be the chief counsel.

POPE URGES BISHOPS TO ORGANIZE THEIR FORCES

Text of Long-Expected Encyclical Relative to Separation of Church and State In France.

Rome, Aug. 14.—The text of the Pope's long-expected encyclical to the archbishops and bishops of France concerning their future conduct in view of the enactment of the laws providing for the separation of church and state appeared in the Osservatore Ramano to-day. It refers to the previous encyclical condemning the general principles of the law and says the time has arrived to indicate what should be done to defend and preserve religion in France.

"We deferred," the encyclical continues, "our decision owing to the importance of this grave question and particularly through a charitable feeling for the great services your nation has rendered the church. Having heretofore condemned this iniquitous law, we examined with the greatest care its articles to see if they permitted the organization of religious life in France without jeopardizing the sacred principles of the church."

After approving the recommendations of the French hierarchy disapproving of the law, the encyclical says:

"Therefore, concerning cultural associations such as the law prescribes, we decree absolutely that they cannot be formed without a violation of the sacred rights which are the life itself of the church. Putting, therefore aside these associations which our conscience forbids us to approve it is opportune to examine if some other kind of organization, both legal and canonical, can avert the threatened dangers to the church."

The encyclical then examines at length the other forms of organization.

The Pope says nothing causes him greater agony than the eventualities menacing the church in France, and, therefore, he hopes to find some other kind of associations not endangering divine rights.

"But as this hope falls us," he continues, "and the law remains as it is, we declare it is not permissible to try these other kind of associations so long as they do not establish in the most legal and most positive way that the divine constitution of the church, the immutable rights of the Roman Pontiff and the Bishops, and their authority over the temporal affairs of the church, particularly the sacred edifices, will be irrevocably protected by such associations. We cannot wish otherwise without betraying our sacred charge and producing the ruin of the church in France."

The document urges the Bishops to adopt all means within the law to organize their forces, assuring them of the Papal co-operation and support. "It is not difficult," the encyclical says "to foresee the recriminations which the enemies of the church will make against our present decree. They will seek to persuade the people that we do not seek the salvation of the church, prove of the encyclical, but that the form of the republic in France is odious to us. We denounce with indignation such insinuations as false. The makers of these laws have not fought separation but oppression. While affirming their desire for peace they have made atrocious war against religion. They hurl a brand of the most violent discord, thus arraying one citizen against another to the great detriment of public welfare. We have supported patiently injustice through love of the French nation, and are finally asked to overstep the last limits of our apostolic duty, and we declare our inability to overstep them. Let the responsibility rest with those whose hatred has gone to such extremes."

The Pope counsels against seditious or violent action and says firmness will give better results than violence. United action he says can be learned from those who have imposed the stigma of this criminal law upon the nation.

In conclusion the encyclical says: "In the hour of hard trial for France if all unite in defending the supreme interests of the country the situation of the church is far from desperate. On the contrary it is to be hoped that her dignity will be raised to its former prosperous height."

The document was signed August 1.

EFFECT OF ENCYCLICAL

A Subject of Widespread Discussion in Paris.

Paris, Aug. 14.—The Pope's encyclical to the archbishops and bishops of France prescribing their attitude with regard to the Church and State separation law attracts widespread attention here, and its probable effects are the subject of animated discussion by the SEEKS RELEASE.

George B. Strader Objects to Being In Asylum.

HIS LAWYER WANTS ANOTHER INQUIRY HELD.

CHARLES WALL, A LIFE PRISONER, PAROLED.

SALOON LICENSE REVOKED.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A sensation was caused here this afternoon when it became known that steps had been taken to have George B. Strader released from the Insane Asylum to which he was committed about a week ago. The action to-day was taken by Attorney J. A. Edge, counsel for Strader, who tendered a copy of the judgment entered in the court of Magistrate Graves in which Strader was sent to the asylum, and asked that an appeal be granted to the Circuit Court. Circuit Clerk J. C. Rogers declined to accept the motion for appeal and a new inquiry was instituted on the ground that it was not the proper legal procedure. Balked by this decision Attorney Edge states that he will probably institute some kind of mandamus proceedings to compel the clerk to file the motion for an appeal. Strader, who is the owner of the Royal Cafe and a well-known business man, was sent to the asylum on August 8 on a warrant issued at the instance of his brothers, who were convinced that his mind had become unbalanced and that it was best for him to be incarcerated until he recovered. Drs. Young and Clarke testified at the time that the man's mind was unbalanced. Strader objected to being sent to the asylum and since his incarceration has communicated with Attorney Edge urging him to secure his release. Dr. Curran Pope, of Louisville, was in Lexington to-day in conference with Attorney Edge, and may make an examination of Strader at the instance of the latter's attorney.

Charles Wall Paroled.

Mayor Thomas A. Combs carried to Frankfort yesterday evening a parole for Charles Wall, a prisoner in the penitentiary under sentence for life. Wall was convicted in 1900 as an accessory murderer. The crime was committed in Powell county and the testimony showed that Wall, John Combs and a man named Barnett, said that they were hired to kill John Base by a man who they claimed promised to pay them $1,500 for the job. Wall became conscience smitten and warned Base's family on the day the crime was to have been committed, but too late to save Base's life. Upon trial the man who was alleged to have made the offer was acquitted, but the three hired assassins were given life sentences, as was Goodloe Combs, who said he had employed them at the instigation of the other man. John Combs died in prison and Goodloe Combs and Barnell were pardoned, Wall alone being left in prison. Recently Mayor Combs presented a petition for Wall's parole, signed by the wife of the murdered man and leading citizens of Powell county. Mayor Combs received the parole yesterday from the Prison Commission and, going to Frankfort, started Wall this morning on his way to his mountain home.

License Revoked.

Upon the testimony of three witnesses that they had bought and drank intoxicating liquors in the saloon of Alderman John Scott on Sunday since the closing law went into effect, Mayor Combs revoked the license of the saloon to-day, after a trial that lasted six minutes. The only witnesses were James B. Owens, John Cravens and W. P. Wyatt, who were all for the prosecution, the defense offering no evidence. Mr. Scott not even testifying in his own behalf, although he was present. After the proceedings before the Mayor, a warrant was issued by the Police Court, charging a violation of the Sunday-closing law and commanding Scott to appear before that tribunal and show cause why he should not be fined. After his license was revoked this morning Mr. Scott took out a new license at a cost of $81.25 to continue in business the remainder of the year. In all the cases in which licenses have been revoked here the convicted persons have been permitted to take out new licenses.

Charged With Mule Stealing.

Jesse Hogg, a fourteen-year-old boy, who a short time ago escaped from the State Reform School, near this city, is in jail at Whitesburg, Letcher county, charged with mule stealing. The mule was stolen from Moore's colliery, and, it is charged, was taken by Hogg to Stonega, Va., where he tried to sell it to the miner operators. Failing in this, and being hotly pursued, he tied the mule to a tree in the mountains and escaped, but was subsequently caught. The boy was sent to the Reform School three years ago, but soon made his escape, and the notice of his arrest is the first information since received of him.

Lawyers Must Pay Licenses.

Within the next twenty-four hours License Inspector Dennis O'Reily will issue warrants for thirty or forty members of the Lexington bar, charging them with failure to take out licenses to practice law. The licenses were legally due on March 1, and a test case of the legality of the ordinances was taken to the Court of Appeals from Paducah and the ordinance was sustained. Some of the lawyers here have not paid the license for three years, and the License Inspector proposes now to try extreme measures.

FIRST OF INSURANCE CASES UP FOR TRIAL.

Set for August 27, and Probably Will Be Test of the Earthquake Clause.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—The first of the insurance cases involving the earthquake clause was called for trial to-day by Superior Judge Hebbard. The case is that of the Rosenthal Shoe Company against the Williamsburg Insurance Company. The attorney for the insurance people asked that the case be not set for trial until opportunity could be given for a test case. He said that the insurance companies would demand a jury trial in each case and unless proper arrangements were made for a test case, the courts would be occupied for years in hearing insurance litigation.

The attorneys for the plaintiff declare that there were points of fact in this connection that could not be settled by a test case. The court then asked the insurance attorney if he waived a jury trial and was answered "no."

The Judge then asked, "Do you demand a jury trial?"

He could not get a direct answer. The attorney for the shoe company then announced that to save time he would formally demand a jury trial. The case was set for August 27.

BIG SCHEME.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., Pushing New Railroad.

PROJECTED TO RUN FROM NEW YORK TO CHICAGO.

TO BE LOW GRADE, DOUBLE-TRACK AIR LINE.

FOREIGN MONEY INTERESTED.

Pittsburg, Aug. 14.—Papers of consolidation of three railroads in different parts of Pennsylvania will be filed at Harrisburg this week, which will constitute the formal announcement of a project of prominent foreign bankers, associated with Joseph Ramsey, Jr., former president of the Wabash railroad, to build a low grade double track railroad from New York to Chicago by way of Pittsburg, which will cost about $150,000,000. Complete surveys have already been made, and it is expected that work preliminary to actual grading and construction next spring will begin this fall. It is expected that the road will require three years to construct. It is contemplated to operate with electric locomotives from the beginning. It will be known as the New York, Pittsburg and Chicago Air Line and will be sixty-five miles shorter to New York than the Pennsylvania and 108 miles shorter than the shortest line between New York and Chicago.

The new Keystone Air Line will traverse the important bituminous coal fields of Central Pennsylvania, now controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad and will also pierce the anthracite region throughout its length. It will not only be the shortest line through Pennsylvania, but it will cross the summit of the Allegheny mountains 400 feet lower than the Pennsylvania and will have very easy curves and remarkable low grades for a mountain line.

Mr. Ramsey confirms the above in a telegram from New York to the Pittsburg Dispatch. The telegram says the information is correct. The cost of the line between Pittsburg and New York, Mr. Ramsey says, is estimated to be between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000, all of which has ben pledged, the bulk of it by foreign capitalists.

The merger papers to be filed this week will provide for the consolidation of the Indiana, Clearfield and Eastern; the Allentown, Tamaqua and Ashland and the Brush Creek and Crow's Run railroad.

CLERK TO LOCAL BOARD OF INSPECTORS.

Newly-Created Position Goes to Arlie R. Kammerling, of Anderson, Indiana.

Arlie R. Kammerling, whose home is in Anderson, Ind., has been appointed clerk to the local board of steam vessel inspectors. The office is a new one, created because of the large increase in the volume of business transacted through the local inspector's office during the past year. Much of the duties devolving upon the new clerk was formerly performed by Joseph J. Dunn, inspector of boilers, who was recently appointed Supervising Inspector of Steam Vessels of the St. Louis district, and whose successor in the local steam vessel inspection department has not yet been appointed.

Capt. E. L. Dorsey, Supervising Inspector of Steam Vessels, left yesterday for Cairo, Ill., where he has gone to inspect several small steam craft.

Dem pants dat once bag at de knees
Looks like dey bags all over."

A more popular and successful line of boats never ran on the Ohio river than the Evansville packets....Several light tows of coal will go on down the river when the fleet comes....Much surprise and regrets were expressed at the transfer of Capt. Mc Donald from the position of boiler inspector at Nashville to the same position at St. Louis. Capt. McDonald has through his methods of treating all alike without fear or favor made him many warm friends at Paducah, and is pleased at his promotion, but sorry to lose him....For the six months ending June 30, 1906, of the vessels reported at Cairo, 408 were loaded with coal; 207 carried lumber; logs, piling and wood; 7 carried ties; 225 carried merchandise; 4 rocks, 1 carried molasses, 5 grain, 14 steel, 4 coke and 3 nails. Vessel arrivals at Cairo, Ill., during June numbered 669 of 349,315 tons, divided into 409 of 231,244 tons, representing a through movement, and 240 of 118,271 tons, a movement local at Cairo.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Work on the locks and dams that was stopped by the high water is well under way again. The suspension of a few days will probably not prevent the work being completed this year. Up to the time of the high water the work was moving very fast. The Tornado and Volunteer arrived to-day with empties. The Kanawha left for Kanawha river points to-day, being the last packet to arrive and leave for many weeks. The first of the coal fleets that left here last Friday will arrive at Cincinnati to-night. The shipping of millions of bushels of coal on scant water is usually accompanied by accidents, but the last shipments were successful in every way. The body of William Shaffer, of Grant-street pit and Second avenue, who was drowned Saturday from the towboat Grider, was found to-day near Cincinnati. There was 5.8 feet of water at Davis Island dam last night and the river was falling slowly.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 14.—River 9 feet 3 inches and falling. Clear and warm. Departed: Ben Hur, Parkersburg, 2 a. m.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—At 6 p. m. to-day the stage of the Ohio river was 10.6 feet and rising. Departures of packets were: Henry M. Stanley for Pomeroy, Tacoma for Maysville and Indiana for Louisville. Arrivals: Henry M. Stanley from Pomeroy, Tacoma from Maysville and Indiana from Louisville. Capt. J. F. Ellison, secretary of the Executive Board of the National Rivers and Harbors Committee, left this evening for Washington to attend a conference as to the next congress of the association. The Pittsburg coal fleet began to arrive to-day. The flagship was the Ben White, she had in in tow three coalboats, thirteen barges and twelve flats. The White made a record run from Pittsburg for a boat of her size and the tow cared for. The White was followed by the Samuel Brown, Josh Cook and Ed Roberts. Weather cloudy, showers and warm.

Madison, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—River 10.3 feet, rising. An inch of rain fell today.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 14.—River 7.5 feet, rising. Rain and warm.

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 14.—River 16.6 feet, a rise of two-tenths of a foot. Cloudy and warm. Arrived: Herman Paepcke, lower Mississippi, 12:30 p. m.; City of Savannah, St. Louis, 3 p. m. Departed: John A. Wood, Louisville, 9:30 a. m.; City of Savannah, Tennessee river, 4:30 p. m.

St. Louis, Aug. 14.—River 12.8 feet, a rise of 1.3 feet in twenty-four hours. Departed: Ferd Herold, Memphis. Fair and warm.

WEDNESDAY....AUGUST 15, 1906

"Business."

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 14.—The New York stock market was dull and featureless, trading being largely professional and unimportant in character. Final quotations were near the best of the day.

Money on call was steady at 3 to 4 per cent., ruling at 3½. Time loans were strong and dull. Sterling exchange was firmer.

The Chicago wheat market was very weak, final quotations on the September delivery being off 1¾c to 1⅞c. Corn was unchanged. Oats were down ½c.

The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 5 points, soon regained the loss and later developed strength, carrying the December option to 9.79, and then fell off to yesterday's close.

The Chicago cattle market was steady. The hog market was slow to 5c higher, and the sheep market 10c lower.

Knowledge Artificially Made.

In response to the Courier-Journal's questioning as to how the Kansas City Star knew so definitely and specifically that President Roosevelt favors revision of the tariff, that newspaper thus states its case:

"President Roosevelt is a Republican. He owes his official position to the Republican party. But is it fair to say that he is a 'dyed-in-the-wool' Republican? Even Mr. Bryan would not say that. Mr. Bryan claims, and with considerable authority, that some of the leading Roosevelt policies have been appropriated from Democratic platforms. There are other prominent Democrats who believe that, in the main, Mr. Roosevelt is a pretty good Democrat. And all Republicans who are not concerned about one or more of the special privileges assailed by the application of the square deal hold that he is a good Republican. The consensus of opinion is that Mr. Roosevelt is more of an American than he is either a Democrat or Republican, more of a nationalist than a partisan. He is for the people, and he administers his office in the interests of the people, not in the interest of a party."

Those premises are simple, aren't they? They are also gentle, blithe and seductive. They are eloquent in their note of child-like innocence and blind faith. Because Mr. Roosevelt is a "nationalist" and not a "partisan" the Star knows absolutely, without fear of contradiction by anyone, by even Mr. Roosevelt himself, that he is for the reduction of the plundering tariff. Fine! The only thing this rehetorical sonata lacks is lucidity. It is prettily expressed, it is dainty in thought and it possesses other virtues, but it is not a bit clearer than pressed brick.

But, let us look a little further; and what do we see? This:

"As for tariff revision, the President has said enough in several of his addresses to show where he stands. His position has been reinforced by many private expressions of opinion. His belief that the Dingley law should be revised is thoroughly well understood by every member of Congress. It is true that Mr. Roosevelt has not yet given formal attention to the subject of the tariff. That will come in time. Meanwhile his views are so well known that even Senator Bailey was misled by the common knowledge of them. In a speech before the Senate he accused the President of having 'gone up and down the country and in a loud voice proclaimed that he would revise the tariff.' This the President did not do. But he has managed to make his views known.

"Now, as to action on the tariff. It is known that the President dictated the tariff plank of the 1904 platform, which declared for the revision of the tariff when it should be made necessary by changed conditions. In the first draft of his message to Congress a year ago last December there was this sentence: 'I will later address Congress on the subject of the tariff.' That was stricken out before the message was submitted, and the tariff message has not yet been sent in."

In other words, the President is for revision, but he is keeping it a dead secret. However and moreover, in spite of his efforts at secrecy, he has succeeded in proclaiming it throughout the land with a loud, yet silent, voice. Therefore, everybody knows, yet doesn't, that he is an enemy of the Dingley measure. Ingenious, but scarcely ingenuous; smooth, but hardly plausible; elaborate, but not altogether logical.

We must confess that the response of our contemporary is disappointing. We thought it had secret channels of information and that when it said it "knew" where the President stood on the subject of revision it really knew, and now we find that it is merely creating its own premises and manufacturing its own conclusions. It does not know any more than the rest of us on the subject. Others might theorize just as well and reach a different belief. Since the President and other high men in the Republican council just gave out the decree at Oyster Bay that the slogan for the fall campaign shall be "We stand pat on the Dingley tariff," it is reasonable to contend that he is really for standing pat and really against lowering the import duties. And yet, if we believe the Star, so to construe the edict is to do the President, the "Nationalist," the "American," injustice. It is to scorn his secret.

Of course, if the Star says the President favors revision, the source carries great weight, whatever may be the utterances of the oracle himself. After all, the statement of a reputable, friendly and conscientious newspaper ought to be as worthy of belief as that of a man who once denied that he was for Canadian reciprocity, then denied that he was opposed to it, and in the end allowed it to be inferred by the public that if he had any position at all on the question he was not aware of it.

Back To the Old Order.

What the Democrats of Kentucky most need at this time is a square deal. What too many aspirants for office seem to want is "a little the best of it." Old ideas of honor, of brotherly love and of the party welfare appear to have dropped out, and in lieu of them how to play for advantage, more or less unfair, rules the roost among contemporary file-leaders and party managers.

That which is true of the Democrats is equally and unhappily true of the Republicans, and the conditions existing in Kentucky do not much vary from those existing in most of the States.

We are living in an age of "practical politics," and too often "practical politics" means double-dealing and bad-faith, dark-closets and hocus-pocus, each for himself, the devil to get the hindmost, in every contest from the highest to the lowest.

Thus is it that "practical politics" doth become dog-eat-dog politics. It was dead sure when a Primary Election was called a year in advance of the General Election that we should have a muddle before we got well into it. In the beginning the Courier-Journal entreated its party associates to see this and not to invite trouble. We pointed out that the nomination of such a Primary—to start with—would give the recipient no clear assurance of election. It would carry no moral weight with it, and was bound to carry many handicaps. In the case of United States Senator, in especial, it would lack all binding force, and would not be worth having. No Legislature chosen a year later would hold itself bound to respect or obey it. In a mixed Legislature, such as we are likely to have, the longest pole would be sure "to fetch the persimmons."

Whoever may have been responsible for such an unwise proceeding flew in the face both of reason and popular sentiment. The assessed money charges shut out the poor man altogether. Nobody but moneyed-men can enter. It seemed to have some sinister design. Yet, may it never be said of any Democratic leader in Kentucky—

"He digged a pit—he digged it deep,
He digged it for his brother;
But, for his sin,
He tumbleth in
The hole he meant for t'other."

Better call the whole thing off, gentlemen. It begins to smell already, and before you are done with it, it will stink. And, in that event, what of the campaign to follow? The Democrats owe their possession of Kentucky to the fatuous, blind folly of the Republicans, rather than to any merit, or wisdom of their own. More unpopular leadership than we have commonly had could hardly be conceived. It is only a question of time when, if it be persevered in, we shall lose the State.

The Courier-Journal is indifferent who fill the offices so that the people control the electorate, whether the electorate takes the form of the old-fashioned Convention or the new-fashioned Primary. On the whole, we prefer the Convention because we think old ways are best. The Primary under existing conditions is too complicated. It offers too many opportunities for the rich and unscrupulous to get in their work. One of these days the people will just rear back on their hind legs and, when they do, the "practical politicians" will hear something drop which they will never forget. As a disinterested monitor, the Courier-Journal again sounds a note of warning. As the enemy of none of the factions, or the aspirants, but the would-be friend of them all—that is of all who are honest men and true Democrats—it tells them that they are traveling over uncertain ground by devious paths; that there are sinkholes ahead; and that, unless they re-establish themselves in the public confidence, they will soon, or late, fall upon a ground swell.

There is but one way to secure any firm footing and that is to do right. He who sees this and acts upon it will most of all in the long run commend himself. And so we say, with prejudice to no one, down with the piratical black flag of dog-eat-dog practical politics, and up with the banners of Democracy, both untarnished and unterrified, bearing not the names of greedy, self-seeking men, but of great, enduring measures; the Restoration of the States to their proper place in the National orbit and the stay of the onward sweep of Federal Centralization and Absolutism; the total subjection of the Money Power, wherever it projects its head above the horizon which justly bounds the fairly granted franchise and protects the rights of property, to the law; the reduction of the Tariff Schedules to a Revenue basis for the support, and only the support, of the General Government, economically administered.

Put no man in office who sets his ambition above these axiomatic doctrines of Democracy, or who may be suspected of preferring himself to his party and his country. Let us upon the threshold of a whole-hearted reunion of Democrats and a return to power as a result of that reunion, recur to first principles. There was a time when no man could do a shady action in Kentucky and politically live. There was a time when the party law was the will of the majority. Integrity was not only at a premium, it was the standard, and no aspirant dared subject himself to so much as the intimation of unfairness. The field was as clear as sunshine and as open as the day. The people who still hew the wood and draw the water and pay the taxes and vote the ticket want to see something more than personal self-seeking among their public men, and their sense of pride in their public men is not yet lost for the lack of the wit and learning and genius and eloquence which once distinguished Kentucky in the National Councils, and which they hope to see once again at the fore-front of the battle as in the days of Crittenden and Clay and Hardin, of the Breckinridges and the Marshalls.

In short and in fine, call the damned thing off, and give a poor man a chance to get a nomination, as in days of yore, yea, without money and without price!

A Question of Early History.

At the meeting of the Maryland Association of Ohio, held in Springfield, O., last week, there was a very pleasant interchange of friendly feeling between the members of the Association, comprising ex-Marylanders settled in Ohio and pronounced citizens of that city and neighboring towns. It evoked a very cordial interchange of friendly courtesies and patriotic expressions. Gov. Harris, of Ohio, and Gov. Warfield, of Maryland, were the recipients of especial honor and attention, particularly the latter, who delivered an address which was received with great enthusiasm, and elicited special compliment from ex-Speaker Keifer who followed him.

In the course of his remarks, however, Gov. Warfield made some historical allusions in which he allowed his pride of State to get the better of his accuracy. His claim of credit due to Maryland for the conception of the first railroad to cross the mountains and unite the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Mississippi Valley was all right, as was his reference to the part his State took in the projection of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal a quarter of a century before the Erie canal was built. But when he would make his gallant little State the mother of the West, it is trenching too much upon the prior claim of Virginia. "It was," said he, "Maryland's determined stand and to her is due the credit of the initial movement or pioneer thought in regard to the naturalization of the lands of the Northwest, ultimately accomplished by the surrender of all State claims." "This," he adds, "was a critical period of the old Confederation, and the most portentous problem that the patriot statesmen of that period had to solve was the vestiture of all land claims in the Government. To Maryland is due this honor and she can justly claim the title of the mother of the five imperial States carved out of this territory—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin."

This is a very remarkable claim to be made by the Governor of a State for services rendered in the early settlement of the West, in which she is not known specially to have taken part. The territory from which the five States named were carved was won from the British by George Rogers Clark, a Virginian, commanding Virginia militia and pioneers of Kentucky chiefly from Virginia. If Maryland had any part in it there is no record of her services in the history of that period. The territory thus conquered became a part of Virginia and was organized under a territorial government by the appointment of Col. John Todd, of Kentucky, as Governor. After the Revolutionary War it was voluntarily ceded to the United States by Virginia, as North Carolina ceded the territory now embraced in Tennessee and Georgia.

On the 1st of March, 1784, Virginia ceded to the United States the Northwest Territory, now embracing the States named by Gov. Warfield, together with that part of Minnesota on the eastern side of the Mississippi river. There were no conditions other than that it should be disposed of for the common benefit of the United States and be in time subdivided into States, become members of the Federal Union, with the same rights of sovereignty, freedom and independence as the other States. Mr. Jefferson, who was Governor of Virginia the year in which the conquest was effected, is entitled to the credit of the cession of the territory to the United States, and was the author of the ordinance of 1787 prescribing a system of government for the territory, which also provided that after the year 1800 there should be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in any of the States erected out of the territory.

This is the history of the Northwestern Territory now comprising five States with an area of 250,000 square miles, and one-fourth the population and wealth of the Union. What part Maryland had in its acquisition, cession or its early settlement and defense is not disclosed in history. Her citizens do not figure among the early pioneers to Kentucky, as those of Virginia, nor to the north of the Ohio. Besides the service rendered by the Virginians and Kentuckians, in conquest of the territory, for many years, it devolved upon the latter to protect the settlers north of the Ohio from the Indians. It was not until 1784, after George Rogers Clark with his Kentucky volunteers had several times invaded Ohio in retaliation for Indian incursions into Kentucky, that their depredations south of the Ohio by invasion in large bodies ceased. In 1787, when the Indians, by these means, had become less hostile, the settlement of Marietta, one of the first in that territory, was made by a stock company from Boston. For their protection, this and other settlements north of the Ohio mainly depended upon Kentucky's pioneer troops until the defeat under Gen. Wayne at Fallen Timbers, August 20, 1784, followed August 3, 1785, by the peace of Greenville. It was not until then that the Indian warfare begun before the Revolution ceased. If Maryland had any part in these events either of early settlement, war or cession of territory, we should like to know what and where it was.

Insurance Recommendations.

The American Bar Association has not the last word in the matter of legislation affecting insurance, but the subject is of such importance that the participation of all classes who can throw any light on a vexed and complicated subject may well be welcomed. The insurance committee of this body has completed and made public the report that will be submitted during the session that begins at St. Paul on the 29th inst.

At the outset it may be mentioned that the committee thinks a good deal of legislation is needed. Of itself this is not specially remarkable, as a committee of lawyers is apt to magnify the influence of legislation above what the facts warrant. But it may be remarked that at this time there is a pretty general demand for more legislation, and it comes from managers of insurance companies, policyholders and their attorneys and from the general public. The recommendations are various, but the call for more legislation is well-nigh unanimous. Many legislative bodies are likely to take action within the next four years, and it is most desirable that the action should be intelligent. It is also desired that the action shall be uniform, but the prospect that it will be is not very good. Amid the great differences of opinion on many points actual laws must be the outcome of many compromises, and these are almost certain to be different in different jurisdictions.

The first recommendation of the committee is that deferred payments on life policies shall be biennially apportioned and certified. This is a very brief statement of the conclusion reached on a very large subject, and must be treated as a compromise. If the reference is to deferred dividends there is a widespread demand that these be altogether abolished. If they are to be continued it would be well that they be frequently ascertained and credited, but the proposition to do so may be intended to preserve the system, and this has been very widely attacked. Stricter corporation laws are recommended in the several States, but this means little until the specifications show what sort of laws are intended. Whether one law is stricter than another may be a matter of opinion, but we need laws for the better protection of the real beneficiaries of insurance, or for the more effectual restraint of the harpies that prey upon them.

The enactment of a Federal statute denying the use of the mails to those who have not complied with the requirements of the States is also recommended. The matter of the use of the mails is of Federal regulation and has no particular relation to insurance. Nor is it a wholesome doctrine that the Federal Government ought to busy itself by indirection with the enforcement of the State laws. Whether companies have complied with the State laws is a question for the States themselves to settle, subject, of course, to the condition that the Federal Constitution shall not be violated. But if corporations that have not complied with State laws be denied the use of the mails, individuals may still be addressed, and it is difficult to prevent these from supplying the corporations with the service which they require.

The recommendation as to the Federal mails is explained by that which follows. It proposes the enactment of a Federal law for the supervision of interstate transactions in insurance. By such transactions are meant, no doubt, cases where a company chartered by one State insures lives or property in another State. In effect, therefore, it is a recommendation that the Federal Government shall take the supervision of insurance away from the States and usurp authority over it. The use of the term "usurp" is well advised, for the Supreme Court has repeatedly decided that insurance is not commerce. As it is not pretended that Congress has any control of insurance in the States, except under the interstate commerce clause, the recommendation is that the Supreme Court be set aside, and that Congress shall regulate its jurisdiction to suit itself. There is no reason to doubt that this suggestion originated with the rascals that have been looting policyholders, because they desire to be freed from State control, and to have in the Federal Government an "easy boss" that will allow them to contribute the money belonging to other people to campaign funds and to dissipate it in such other ways as may seem good to them. That a committee of the American Bar Association should give its assent to a proposition so repugnant to sound law, as well as to the interests of the people who insure, is a fact of tremendous import, the adoption of which would stamp the American Bar Association as unworthy of public confidence. It is creditable that one member of the committee refuses to join in this recommendation on the ground that it is unconstitutional. This feature of the report, however, discredits the whole, because it shows that it is the work of men who, while they cannot be ignorant of the law, are willing to disregard it in order that insurance abuses shall continue. The American Bar Association should have a new Committee on Insurance of a radically different type. The opinion of a committee that disregards the decisions of the Supreme Court is not of interest to the American people.

A Situation Vacant.

The Sultan of Turkey is said to grieve greatly over the death of Ismet Bey. Not that he was so great a statesman that his place cannot be filled, but he had one peculiarity which is not easily duplicated. He was only the foster brother of the Sultan, and so no blood relation, but he was so like him that he frequently served as his "double." When the Sultan did not care to appear in public either from native indolence or from fear of assassination, Ismet was ready to take his place, and the people who greeted him along the way were none the wiser.

This office of "double" to a great ruler may pay well, but it has its drawbacks. There are a good many fellows of the baser sort who are continually watching for an opportunity to send rulers to the other shore, and they are liable to make frightful mistakes as to identity. Thus one of the Czar's doubles is said to have been assassinated by a Nihilist, and a similar fate overtook a double of the late Humbert of Italy, before the King himself was slain. The story is told that the President of the Greek Republic, during the time that the country had that form of Government, hired a man for $600 to act as his double, with the result that the latter was promptly assassinated.

However, the post of double for the Sultan is vacant just now, and anyone who thinks he can make up to personate him successfully is at liberty to apply for the place. No civil service regulations are in the way.

A very unusual phenomenon has occurred recently in the sudden appearance of an island in the Pacific Ocean, about fifty miles off the coast of the State of Washington. There is going on constantly the elevation or subsidence of islands in the Pacific and other oceans, but this process is usually very gradual. As the result of earthquakes or volcanoes such phenomena have happened at long intervals in some parts of the world, as in the Pacific or Indian Ocean. In the present instance the new island made its appearance first early in June, and is now 900 feet high. From its summit clouds of steam rise, and it is said to be surrounded by boiling water. Scientists have not as yet explained the phenomenon or given any opinion as to whether it has any relation to the seismic disturbances on the Pacific coast which found their most pronounced expression at San Francisco.

The proceedings of the Texas Democratic State Convention which met in Dallas yesterday will be of especial interest to the Democrats of Kentucky. A primary election law for the nomination of candidates for State officers was passed by the Legislature recently, and it will devolve upon the convention to declare the nominees as shown by the returns which will be laid before it. Where the vote at the primary was decisive, in the receipt of a majority, the action of the primary will be ratified. Where there was no nomination, as in the race for Governor, from failure of any candidate to receive a majority, the nomination will be made by the convention. The interest centers on this race, four candidates, Messrs. Campbell, Colquitt, Bell and Brooks, having each received a large number of votes.

"The Judges of the courts of Philadelphia should be admonished that the people of this city will not much longer permit the gates of justice to be totally closed for months while they are enjoying themselves at the seashore and in the mountains. It is essential to the proper administration of justice that it should not be attended by unnecessary delays. Not to mention the ice cases, there are others in which a delay of three months while the Judges are enjoying their leisure is fatal to the cause of many a suitor. Let the courts of justice in Philadelphia be opened wide, and kept open."—[Philadelphia Recorder.

But do open courts tend to prevent delays of justice? Most delays are secured with the aid of the courts.

COUNTY FAIR

Opens at Fern Creek With Many Exhibits.

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS AND ALL REGULAR FEATURES.

"LOUISVILLE DAY" WILL DRAW BIG CROWD TO-MORROW.

EXHIBITIONS OF HIGH ORDER.

The sixth annual fair of the Jefferson County Fair Company began yesterday near Fern Creek with every indication of success. Yesterday was entry day for all exhibits except those of live stock, which will be entered and judged as the classes are called on the remaining three days of the fair. Every exhibit which is on the prize list had been accepted by the various department superintendents by 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon according to the regulations of the directors of the fair. The tables in the exhibition shed and in the yard around it were covered with exhibits of farm products, garden products, apples, peaches, pears, grapes, melons, household products, needle work and flowers.

The sixteen acres a short distance from the Bardstown road near Fern Creek was a busy place, especially yesterday afternoon. All the roads leading to the grounds were dotted with vehicles on the way, and the hitching yards were well filled. Most of the exhibitors took their effects in carriages early in the afternoon and set to work immediately to put things in shape for the judges. The stands were erected and dray after dray drove up laden with farming implements for displaying purposes. The fair does not really begin until this morning.

To-morrow, which will be the biggest day, is Louisville day. To-day is not designated as anybody's day, although the directors say that it is for anybody, those who live in Louisville, those who live along the Barlstown road and those who live in Bullitt county. Before this day is over all the exhibits will have been tied with the different awards, so that the prize winners may be known. Running and trotting races will be held every afternoon for the three days, and the various classes of live stock will be shown and judged.

Baby Show To-day.

The feature of to-day's programme is the baby show, which will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. James Bullitt, Dr. T. A. Hays and Dr. Charles Farmer, all of Louisville, are the judges. Four prizes of $3 each will be awarded as follows: For the finest boy baby, twelve to eighteen months, by Dr. J. W. Turner, of Malott; for the finest girl baby, twelve to eighteen months, by Dr. William Farmer, of Fairmount; for the finest boy or girl, one to two years, by Dr. L. Blankenbaker, of Jeffersontown; for the finest twins, under two years, by Dr. H. P. Stivers, Buechel. Entries must be in ten minutes before 2 o'clock.

Prizes ranging from $2.50 to $15 will be awarded to-day for the best draft mare; draft gelding; draft stallion; mare colt; horse colt; yearling mare; yearling horse; two-year-old mare; two-year-old horse; buggy mares and horses under four years old and over four years; best mare or horse under three years; pony and rider; pony turnout; surrey mare or horse.

Some of the contests depend largely on the question of speed. The best mare or horse of any age will be driven for a prize of $10. The trotters, mare or horse, any age, will be driven three times around the one-third-mile track for the best two heats in three for $15. One running race for thoroughbreds, any age, twice around the track, two heats in three, will be held this afternoon for a purse of $15. Mote Williams is marshal of the day and John Long ringmaster.

Many Valuable Displays.

Many interesting and valuable displays are made in farm products. Curren Smith is superintendent of that department, and Davis Kyser and Dr. William Farmer are on the Committee on Judges. Prizes ranging from fifty cents to $5 in cash will be awarded. George Lyons has stalks of corn on exhibit that are sixteen feet in length. Each has two good ears and a "nubbin" a foot in length. John Alderson has an exhibit of corn which was grown from seed obtained by his father thirty-two years ago, new seed having been saved every year.

The display of garden products is complete. Oscar W. Hawes is superintendent of the department and Dr. Farmer and David Kyser are on the Committee on Judges.

A fine exhibit of apples is shown. Moses Bates is superintendent of the department. Apples are shown by T. C. Tyler, of Harrods Creek; E. B. Berry, Ben Williams, R. M. Miller and J. W. Bryan, all of Fern Creek; Henry Kauffman, of Smyrna, and J. T. Gunn, of Jeffersontown.

Gurley Smith, of Barrellton, has a large display of peaches and pears. The wet weather has proved disastrous to much fruit this year, and the excellent showing surprised the fair directors. J. B. Berry is in charge of the peach exhibits. Pears are well represented. Clarence Hawes is superintendent of the pear exhibits. R. C. Tyler, of Harrods Creek, is the largest exhibitor of grapes. He has a fruit farm of 106 acres. J. B. Alley is in charge of the grape exhibits. Other exhibitors are E. B. Berry, Mrs. John Wiseheart and Phillip P. Thomas. The exhibit of melons and small fruits, in charge of Harvey Bates, is attracting much attention. Bread enough to stock a bakery, as well as cake, is on exhibit in contest for special prizes offered by Louisville firms. The household products of canned fruits in charge of Mrs. Julia Berry and Miss Lizzie Hawes, is complete. Many have volunteered to act as judges in this department. Miss Bessie Stivers and Miss Lola Hart are superintendents of the needlework department, where much dainty work is on exhibit. The flower display, which occupies the center of the exhibition shed, and of which Miss Georgia Bush is superintendent, is composed largely of flowers shown by Mrs. S. R. Surles, an amateur florist of Jeffersontown.

Excellent Accommodations.

The fair grounds are reached from the Bardstown road or from Jeffersontown, carriages being operated between that point over the three miles to the grounds. The grounds occupy sixteen acres in a pretty grove in which are set the various buildings. The main exhibit shed is in the form of a Greek cross and is at the entrance to the grounds. The grandstand, which has just been built, faces the race track on the west. The stand will easily seat 1,500, and contains booths below the steps for family parties. The track is well graded and measures one-third of a mile. The field in the center is used as a show ring for live stock. Dinner and other meals are served at the east end of the grounds in a commodious pavilion. At the rear of the grandstand is the "mothers' rest," where the mothers who take small children may leave them in care of an attendant while they enjoy what is going on. The grounds are pretty with the white buildings against the green background of the woods. Water is supplied plentifully by a well on the premises.

The Jefferson County Fair dates from 1878, or rather it has grown out of a grape show that was given that year in Beulah church at Fern Creek. Yellow fever was epidemic in the South that year and, after the show, the fruit was sold at auction for the benefit of the sufferers. Bryan Williams, president of the company to-day, was interested in that show, and has been connected with every Jefferson County Fair since. For several years fairs were held in the woods of Levi Smith, near Fern creek. Ten years passed and the Fern Creek Fair Company was organized that was continued until eight years ago, when the company was sold at auction to ten of the present directors. They are: Bryan Williams, J. H. Alderson, E. B. Berry, who are respectively president, vice president and secretary and treasurer of the company; Lon Jones, Ben. J. Williams, Dr. William Farmer, Frank Williams, Dr. H. P. Stivers, David Kyser and W. P. Hays.

Six years ago the present grounds were bought at a time when each of the ten directors was interested as much as $11.25. Last year the company again was reorganized and the following additional directors taken in: Henry Diebel, Louis Diemer, J. L. Simcoe, Jacob Greenberg, E. A. Low, C. E. Hunsinger, C. A. Seaton, John B. Long, George Schuster and W. H. Frederick, Jr. They have built up the fair without the investing of additional capital and are confident of continued success. The location of the permanent state Fair at Louisville, it was said yesterday, would make little difference with the Jefferson County Fair as the two are not in the same class and would not conflict with each other.

EAGLES MEET.

RAPID GROWTH SHOWN BY SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Several Committee Reports Submitted at First Executive Session.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 14.— — The eighth annual convention of the Grand Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles opened here to-day, with 1,500 delegates present. Mayor Sherburn M. Becker extended the freedom of the city in a few appropriate remarks, taking occasion to "raise the lid" during the time the visitors are the city's guests.

The first executive session of the Grand Aerie meeting was called to order by Grand Worthy President Henry D. Davis, with Past Grand Presidents John Considine, of New York; H. H. Thompson, of Seattle; Eduard F. Edson, of Seattle; Delcary Smith, of Spokane; T. D. Sullivan, of New York, and John F. Fellethier seated on the stage.

Past Grand Worthy President Delcary Smith, of Spokane, administered the Grand Aerie obligation to the delegates. Senator T. F. Grady, of New York, chariman of the Committee on Judiciary, submitted a preliminary report, recommending an order of business. On behalf of the same committee, he also submitted a report recommending the election of officers by ballot. The Committee on Elections recommended that any roll calls be by States, following State caucuses in each instance.

All three reports were laid on the table until to-morrow to await printing. The minutes of the Denver session were approved.

The report of Grand Secretary A. E. Partridge shows that the order, since June, 1905, has added 362 aeries, lost twenty, and now has 1,364 in good standing. The membership has shown a net gain of 42,368 in this period, now numbering 232,671. During the same period the receipts of local aeries amounted to $2,985,212 and their disbursements to $2,780,416, of which $592,000 was paid out for relief. The assets of the various local aeries June 1, 1906, were valued at $862,830.61.

After the appointment of committees, a recess was taken until to-morrow forenoon.

Duke. Senator James B. McCreary was present, and made a talk in the afternoon. Other speakers of the day were the Hon. G. F. Wycoff, of this city, and Gen. John B. Castleman, of Louisville. THE LATE LYTTLETON COOKE.

A Touching Tribute From Ex-Gov. Preston H. Leslie.

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.]

I ask for registry in the columns of your paper of some words suggested by my own sense of loss and the loss of the State of Kentucky, and especially the citizens of Louisville and Jefferson county, in the death of the Hon. Lyttleton Cooke. I first met and learned to know him upon our meeting in the State Senate at its first assembling after the election of 1867. We were closely identified in our service through the official term of our election as such, and in many other counselings and helpings, as true and fast friends through all the years since that first coming together. He was my friend, and a man of the loftiest type of honor, truth and justice.

He was a man of broad and ready grasp of the great questions and principles of statesmanship; understood well the ordeal through which the State and entire country was passing, covering the years from 1865 to 1876, and was one of the thousands of courageous, patriotic, good and true men who, through those years, or a majority of that time, were to the people as a "pillar of cloud by day and pillar of fire to give light by night," and he had lived to see and enjoy the rewards of peace, harmony and good will throughout the States and the entire nation, as one united people, each one at rest under his own "vine and fig tree."

He was a man without the tinge of hypocrisy, very candid, and always ready to forgive and help up the fallen and invite to the ways of rectitude.

I have not the pleasure of an acquaintance with his family, or any of the survivors, but in heart sincerity I want them to know of my estimate of their great loss of him, who was to them light in darkness and the joys and gladness of home. And in this time of bereavement and loneliness, I commend them to "the Star of Bethlehem," and to listen to the music of that morning's "glad tidings of great joy" for all people.

The life pathway of Senator Lyttleton Cooke, from the early years of his manhood to the grave where lie his mortal remains, is bedecked with the flowers of honesty, truth, energy and courage to do the right, and quick to spurn the wrong, from whatever sources its tempting offers came. Very truly,

PRESTON H. LESLIE.

Helena, Mont., August [illegible], 1906.

GOLDEN EAGLE KNIGHTS MEET AT FULLERTON.

Greenup, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The seventeenth annual session of the Grand Castle of Kentucky, Knights of the Golden Eagle, convened at Fullerton, this county, this morning at 10 o'clock. The session promises to be interesting owing to the adoption of a death benefit fund. Supreme Chief Frank A. Williams, of Youngstown, O., has promised to be present Wednesday afternoon to install the new officers. The following representatives are also in attendance:

Pioneer Castle, No. 4, J. J. Mann, Fallsburg; Commonwealth, No. 5, Charles W. Poe, Newport; Caney, No. 6, A. R. Waddell, Leadringham; New Hope, No. 7, M. F. Waddell

WILL RESIGN.

Dr. M. H. Yeaman Purchases Beechhurst Sanitarium.

NO DEFINITE TIME SET FOR TAKING CHARGE OF IT.

CANNOT SAY WHEN HE WILL LEAVE LAKELAND ASYLUM.

ARRANGEMENTS UNCERTAIN.

Dr. M. H. Yeaman has decided to resign as superintendent of the Central Kentucky Asylum for the Insane at Lakeland, but has set no definite time. He has purchased the Beechhurst Sanitarium, formerly known as the Barton W. Stone Sanitarium, from Mrs. C. W. Johnson. Dr. Yeaman does not know when he will take active and personal supervision of the sanitarium, as it still will be conducted under the management of Dr. B. F. Eager, who has been identified with the institution for a number of years. Dr. Eager has not been in good health for the past few months, but lately he has gained in health. Should anything occur that would necessitate the retirement of Dr. Eager from the active management Dr. Yeaman probably would assume personal charge of the sanitarium.

Dr. Yeaman announced last night that whenever it became necessary for him to devote his personal attention to the sanitarium he would resign as superintendent of the Central Kentucky Asylum for the Insane at Lakeland. He said last night that he could not say when this would be. Dr. Yeaman has been superintendent of the Lakeland asylum for several years and has made an excellent record. He began work in nervous troubles about thirteen years ago under the instruction of the late Dr. H. K. Pusey, following that with several years of study under Dr. F. H. Clarke, of Lexington.

So long as Dr. Eager's health is good Dr. Yeaman will be associated with the work at Beechhurst in an advisory capacity, which will not interfere with his present duties at Lakeland.

AT CITY'S EXPENSE

MAN FOUND DEAD ON SHANTY-BOAT WILL BE BURIED.

Physician Finds That Death Was Due to Hemorrhage, But Inquest Will Be Held.

George Wilcox, a veteran of the Civil War, who was found dead in his shanty-boat on the Ohio river below Riverview Monday night, will be buried at the expense of the city. Dr. S. B. Hatfield conducted an autopsy yesterday and found that the man died of hemorrhage of the lungs. Magistrate Edward O'Connor, Acting Coroner, said he was not entirely satisfied with that explanation, and that he would hold an inquest Monday. The pool of blood found in the boat is explained by the hemorrhage, but Magistrate O'Connor said he still suspected foul play.

The old man had been boarding with Lewis Woodall, of 3003 Water street, who is part owner of the shantyboat. Woodall had left the boat to go into the city to make some purchases and left Wilcox alone. On returning Monday night he found Wilcox lying dead in the front part of the boat, which was partly submerged. A watch and a small sum of money were found on the corpse, while some distance away in the boat a pool of blood was found.

Magistrate O'Connor was notified and he had the body removed to the undertaking establishment of Thomas Keenan at 1225 West Market street, where the autopsy was conducted.

Wilcox served in the Federal Army with some distinction. He was seventy-three years of age. He enlisted in the Union Army in April, 1862, and was assigned to the Fifty-second Infantry of Ohio, which was placed in the Cumberland division of the United States Army. He took part in many of the famous battles, having served at Perryville, Stone River, Chickamauga, Marietta, Murfreesville and Chattanooga. At the battle of Mission Ridge he was shot through the leg, necessitating amputation. He also lost an eye in battle. For his gallantry in the field he was made a sergeant. In June, 1865, he was mustered out and after wandering about for many years was placed in the Soldiers' Home at Columbus, O. He left there several months ago and since has been travelling about in the shantyboat collecting junk.

After making an attempt to have the body taken by the G. A. R. organization at Columbus Magistrate O'Connor placed it in charge of L. D. Bax, City Undertaker.

FOUND WANDERING ON RIVER FRONT.

Gertrude Dunnington Placed Under Arrest on the Charge of Delinquency.

Gertrude Dunnington, a sixteen-year-old girl, who lives with her father, James Dunnington, a blacksmith, at 1016 Eighteenth street, was arrested Monday morning by Special Patrolman Speed at Ninth street and the river, on the charge of delinquency. She was wandering about and crying when the patrolman found her, and she told him that her lover had quarreled with her, and that she had run away. According to Patrolman Speed, she threatened to kill herself. She said that she and her sweetheart had gone for a walk last Sunday night, and that they had had a quarrel, in the course of which she ran away, and wandered to the river. Her father said that she had had a quarrel with a young man who had been going with her for some time. He understood that they were engaged, he said. The girl is employed at the bakery of Theodore Wolf, at Eighteenth and Chestnut streets.

CHARGED WITH SELLING LIQUOR ON SUNDAY.

Fred Shick, who conducts a saloon on the Eighteenth-street road, just outside of the city limits, was arrested Monday afternoon by Capt. J. J. Sanders, of the county police, on the charge of disposing of liquors on Sunday. The alleged violation was committed on Sunday, June 17. He was arrested at the instance of George Pfiester, who swore out the warrant. Pfiester and Charles Freeburg went to Shick's saloon, it is alleged, and became involved in a quarrel with Shick, during which several blows were struck. Shick later swore out warrants against the men on the charge of breach of the peace, and Pfiester then had the warrant issued against Shick. Pfiester and Freeburg were arrested yesterday afternoon by Capt. Sanders, and the three cases will come up in Magistrate S. S. Hollis' court next Friday.

UNION-MADE GOODS

TO BE PUSHED AMONG MERCHANTS OF LOUISVILLE.

Committee Appointed by Federation of Labor to Call on the Tradesmen.

The Louisville Federation of Labor has inaugurated an active campaign for the sale of union made products throughout the city. At a meeting held last night, committees were appointed to visit the various merchants and shopkeepers with a view to getting as many of them as possible to handle union made goods. Heretofore the federation, in an attempt to push the sale of union made products, has confined its work among clothing merchants, hatters, cigar dealers, etc., but a determined effort will now be made to have Louisville merchants dealing in almost every line of goods, to have wares bearing the union label prominently exposed for sale.

The campaign will be vigorously pushed, according to one of the officers of the federation, who said last night that the plan had worked very satisfactorily in other large cities. "It is simply a question," he said, "of inducating in the purchaser the habit of buying union made goods. When the habit is once formed he does not desire to break it."

Owing to the fact that the committee appointed for the purpose has not had the opportunity of approaching the Republican and Democratic candidates for Congress in regard to their attitude toward organized labor, the matter of a labor candidate for Congressman was not taken up by the Federation at its meeting last night. Congressman Swagar Sherley is out of the city and the committee could not learn his position. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has issued instructions that wherever organized labor cannot secure the right kind of overtures from candidates for Congress a labor candidate shall be nominated.

At the meeting last night the Labor Day Committee submitted a full report of its work to date. A special meeting of the committee will be held to-night and a visit made to the Cigar-makers' Union in the interest of the Labor day demonstration. The next regular meeting of the committee will be held Friday night, when final details will be arranged for what is expected to be the greatest labor demonstration that Louisville has ever seen.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Francis H. Smith, one of the first official reporters of congressional debates, died at Washington, Conn., where he was born March 11, 1829. For many years he had been a prominent banker at the National Capital.

Announcement was made yesterday by Scott C. Bone, formerly managing editor of the Washington Post, that a new morning newspaper, to be known as the Washington Herald, will be published, beginning October 1. Mr. Bone will be at the head of the enterprise.

The Chilean Government will receive Secretary Root at Port of Corral. Admiral Simpson will be in command of the squadron participating in the reception.

Admiral George Dewey was yesterday elected Governor General of the Order of Founders and Patriots of America to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robert B. Roosevelt.

Secretary Bonaparte has sent the findings of the courtmartial of Surgeon T. L. Brown and T. N. Pease, of the Navy Department, to the President for final determination. It is unusual to send the findings in courtmartial cases to the President unless the sentence of the court has been dismissal.

Brig. Gen. P. M. Orellly, Surgeon General of the Army, and Rear Admiral C. S. Sperry, of the Navy, who represented the United States at the recent International Red Cross conference in Geneva, returned to Washington yesterday and had a long conference with Acting Secretary of State Bacon.

According to information received at Fort Leavenworth, Secretary of War Taft has declined to grant the application for clemency made by Sidney S. Burbank, late First Lieutenant of the United tSates Army, now serving a sentence of fifteen months at the Federal prison there.

An opinion of the Attorney General has been asked by the War Department as to the application of section 5 of the Sundry Bill in the purchase and handling of supplies known "as sales stores" for the Commissary Department of the army. This section requires a detailed report to be made within thirty days after the end of the fiscal year of all moneys received from any source whatever arising from the sale of public property.

Scores of applications for information concerning the proposed contract for 2,500 Chinese laborers have already reached the Isthmian Canal Commission, and indications are that hundreds of persons are planning to make bids for the contract in the hope of realizing a small fortune from it, as several bidders did on the recent issue of Panama canal bonds. But prospective bidders without extensive financial backing will be much disappointed when the specifications for furnishing the Chinese are made public. It will be required by the commission that a large certified check shall accompany each bid.

Satisfactory results with wireless apparatus are reported to the chief signal officer in Washington from Camp Roosevelt at Mount Gretna, Pa. Under the direction of Capt. DISCONTINUES SERVICE.

SURFACE CARS NOT RUNNING TO CONEY ISLAND.

Arrest of Inspectors Causes Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company's Action.

New York, Aug. 14.—Following the arrest to-night of three division inspectors of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company on charges of assault in the third degree, the company shut off entirely all of its surface lines leading to Coney Island, taking the position that this was the only way to stop rioting, which has been in progress since Sunday morning at the points where a second fare was demanded by the company's employes. The elevated and express train services to the seashore resort were augmented. The arrested inspectors are William Hefferman, William C. Newberry and Frederick J. Gulliver, all of whom were taken into custody on warrants sworn out by passengers who had been ejected from cars. The employes were bailed in the sum of $500 each.

The stoppage of the surface car traffic had the effect of quieting the disturbances to-night, and the company claims that it will not attempt to run the surface cars through to Coney Island at rush hours until all danger of rioting is past.

Three more inspectors of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit were arrested late to-night on warrants charging assault and sworn out by passengers. They were Frederick Lewis, Frank Perri and James Tierney.

A rear-end collision between two trolley cars on the West End railroad near Coney Island to-day resulted in the injury of a dozen persons, one seriously. The accident occurred at a sharp curve.

WOUND FATAL.

GEORGE H. DESMOND MARRIED A LOUISVILLE WOMAN.

His Skull Fractured in a Fight in a Beer Garden in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—George H. Desmond died to-day in the Sisters' Hospital as a result of a fractured skull, sustained in a fight in a beer garden near the city line, a week ago. Mrs. Desmond, who is from Louisville, was with him at the time he received the wound. The trouble started over language used by a man who was with them. The Desmonds have been married five years. The dead man was the only son of D. W. Desmond, a wealthy real estate man of Boston, and he was one of the best-known traveling salesmen in the country. He represented George Brooks & Son Company, of Philadelphia. Desmond was a member of the crack Seventy-first regiment of New York National Guard, and was a member of I. O. O. F.

FOREST

OF PECAN TREES YIELDS LARGE PROFITS IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Grove of 600 Acres Contains 10,000 Trees Now Bearing Good Crops.

What is thought to be the largest bearing pecan orchard in the world is owned by Major John S. Horlbeck in Charleston county, South Carolina. He has 600 acres in bearing trees.

His main grove consists of 450 acres. In one lot are 10,000 trees, fifteen years old, just beginning to give a good return on the investment.

In one section of his grove he had planted oats; another section he was using for pasturing stock, and old asparagus rows showed between the trees.

The pecan is an intolerant tree—that is to say, a tree that will not tolerate shade, and when it is planted near other trees it does nothing until it rises into the sunlight.

The major made one shipment of ten tons of fine nuts last season, and as these nuts bring a fine price and have a special market in New York City some idea of the value of the product may be had. There is not a finer pecan in America, and the tree flourishes like a native.

In the nursery, near Boone Hall, some shoots a few inches high bore grafts that were in blossom, and last year one of these little twigs gave two perfect nuts, but the kernel did not mature.

Long-sighted patience was required to await the tardy production of this great grove, but it will yield as sure a revenue as a gold mine, and large enough to satisfy a prince.

The grove was filled with birds, and the major is their friend, as he fully realizes their value to the orchard in catching caterpillars and other noxious worms and insects.

The twig girdler has as yet given but little trouble. The only trees that have been injured are those near the woods. The grove has now grown large enough to resist many of the usual enemies of the pecan; its future seems assured.

Much of the worthless second growth of forests in eastern South Carolina might be transformed into profitable groves like this, and the work might be done at odd times, when so much space is given to grumbling at State and national affairs, and with much more profit.

BOSTON ARISTOCRATIC EVEN IN HER TIPS.

Hub Gratuities Dwarf the Fees Given to New York Waiters.

[Boston Transcript.]

New York, it appears, is phenomenally hard up for dimes, and the philosophers of the metropolis attribute the dearth of them to the habit of the citizens have of giving them to waiters. Hearing this, a Bostonian's eyebrows fly aloft: "They're heroes, surely, to tip waiters so moderately. Over here we don't dare offer such slender gratuities." Perhaps the local sage exaggerates a little, but the solemn and awful fact remains that we fee more lavishly than "city" people. Why so?

The metropolitans are notoriously extravagant. Comparatively few of them can find it in their hearts to revere a five-dollar bill. At Martin's and Sherry's I have seen appalling tips bestowed. Yet in general the rule holds: A small fee and a grateful flunkey. In Boston, on the contrary, I have seen with these eyes a waiter actually tossing a modest gratuity at his benefactor's head and stalking away, nose in air. Why this impressive contrast—the spendthrift city so stingy, the thrifty city so open-handed?

The reason, I fancy, is ethnological. In New York the Germans and the Jews predominate. The Germans inherit a genius for niggardliness—or at least a European notion that there's no virtue in wasting money. The Jews, who will spend freely for pleasure, for display and for charity, decline to be robbed. They make up their minds what a service is worth, and make honest payment—enough, no more. The two races fix the standard for the whole community.

With us there are relatively few Jews and almost no Germans. Oh yes, both Jews and Germans are here, but they aren't rich enough, commonly, to govern the dimensions of tips. Instead, we have thousands of students and an army of Irish-Americans. The students fee lavishly because they don't earn the money they spend and because a student feels twenty feet tall when he has overpaid a servant. Irish-Americans fee lavishly because they can't help it. It's one of the penalties of Hibernicism; not that it hurts—good heavens, it's a joy! But the net result is a drain upon many an exuberant purse and the setting of a fashion that will make the forefathers weep when they hear of it.

INDIANS

SHOULD BE DEMOCRATS IN NEW STATE OF OKLAHOMA.

Creek Politician Says the Red Men Have Not Received a Square Deal From Republicans.

[Tishomingo News.]

D. M. Hodge, a prominent creek politician of Tulsa, gives the following reasons why Indians should be Democrats:

"While we as Indians are without a government of our own, while Congress has violated its promises to the five tribes and wiped out all of our rights given us under the treaties, we are still free Indians. I have been a Republican all of my life and while it is hard to break away from old friends and old beliefs, the action of the Republican party in its Congress has led me and other Republicans to leave the Republican party and we leave it without shedding a tear.

"We are free men. We will vote the principles of Jefferson of equal rights to all and special privileges to none. We believe the rights and voice of the people should be heard and not the voice of the few as it is now in the Republican party.

"We were promised in treaty after treaty that we should not be deprived of the right of self government. After much of our land has been taken away and given to our ex-slaves and in other ways after all violation of promises and treaties running through years, we were ready to forgive and forget the wrong done us by the Republican party.

"We remembered the solemn promise not to attach us to any other State, not to deprive us of the right of local self-government. We met and framed the Sequoyah Constitution, and went with this and these pledges made to us, to Congress and asked for a State of Indian Territory. By all the rights of sacred treaties we were entitled to much more. We would have cheerfully accepted this. Instead of bread, we were given a stone. We were ridiculed, insulted and sent back home.

"Our Constitution gave to the white man and the black the same rights it gave to us. We were ignored, not because our Constitution was not all that could be asked, but because the State of Sequoyah would be Democratic. It will now be much stronger than it would have been had we been given a respectful hearing. When it comes time to vote, the old Indian will be listened to by the younger ones, as they have always been, and the old Indians all know and feel much as I do about the matter.

"You cannot kill the ambition of an Indian. They do not want office. They do want self-government, and they know that the Democratic party will come nearest giving this, and they will vote the Democratic ticket.

"If a lady goes back on her lover because he has lied to her over and over again you do not blame her for it. That is what the Republican party has done to me and I am with you today as a delegate from Broken Arrow to help to make this great new State Democratic. I do not want any office. I want to help make the best Government possible for my people and your people. This can be done by making this a Democratic State."

RICHEST MEXICAN WAS NEVER POOR.

Pedro Alverado, Who Could Pay the National Debt, Inherited His Mine.

"Pedro Alverado, advertised as the peon millionaire of Mexico who offered to pay the national debt, has been grossly caricatured by some of the newspapers," said D. M. Evans, an American miner of Parral, Chihuahua, Mexico, says the Washington Post.

"Senor Alverado is not a peon and he never offered to pay the Mexican national debt, although he is probably financially able to do so.

"The Palmilla mine, which is probably the richest in the world," said Mr. Evans, "has been owned and operated by the Alverado family for more than 200 years. When Pedro Alverado took over the mine his forefathers had almost succeeded in removing the covering to the incalculable riches of the mine. After a few years' work, when Pedro opened up the rich vein, it was announced to the world that a peon had suddenly struck it rich.

"The manner in which a part of the American press has treated Alverado has served to keenly bitter against all people from the United States. He resents being pictured as having a thousand clocks and fifteen or twenty pianos in his house and of decorating his person with gold and jewels. As a matter of fact, Alverado is an exceedingly refined gentleman, the richest man in Mexico.

"The Palmilla mine, of which he is sole owner, returns Alverado an income of more than $1,500,000 a year. Operated by Americans it would produce $20,000,000 a year. Only one American besides myself has ever been permitted to enter the mine. That was when Dr. Kiefer, of the Lehigh University, was sent there to gather statistics on the mineral resources of Mexico, and I secured for him admission to the Palmilla."

FAST TIME BY ANGUS POINTER

Wins In First Start of the Season In the Grand Circut.

VICTORY IN STRAIGHT HEATS.

Allie Jay Punishes Form Players by Defeating Brilliant Girl at Poughkeepsie.

LAKE ERIE CIRCUIT RACES.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Angus Pointer, the speedy son of Sidney Pointer, after working out on the half-mile tracks, made his first start of the season in the Grand Circuit in the 2:04 pace at the Hudson River Driving Park this afternoon, winning in straight heats in 2:03¼ and 2:03¾, which makes a new record for the track and the fastest two heats paced this season, next to The Broncho's three heats of 2:03¼, 2:03 and 2:03¾.

Angus Pointer has been considered fast since he started as a green horse two years ago and got a mark of 2:04½, but he was hardly believed to be capable of the speed which he showed to-day. He made the last quarter of the first heat in :29¾, going under the wire a length and a half ahead of Baron Grattan. He made the first half of the second heat in 1:00½. Angus Pointer sold favorite at $100 to $64.

The 2:11 pace was easy for Rudy Kipp, it being his third victory of the season. He was favorite at $100 to $60 for the field.

Brilliant Girl's Cleveland performance made her favorite for the 2:28 trot at $100 to $60, but the talent found a surprise in Allie Jay, owned by Gen. Chisholm, of Cleveland, and a winner at Windsor, but not reckoned as a dangerous factor on the Grand Circuit. Under the skillful driving of Kenney, Allie Jay won with comparative ease in straight heats. Summaries:

SAN FRANCISCO MAKES BIG BID

Eddie Graney Offers $40,000 for Bout Between O'Brien and Berger.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—San Francisco does not propose to be outdone by Goldfields, Nev. They have gone the Nelson-Gans-burg $10,000 better in the line of big purses, by offering $40,000 for the O'Brien-Berger go. The offer to the heavyweights comes from Eddie Graney, of San Francico, was sent to H. Walter Schlichter, O'Brien's representative, and is as follows:

"September date cinched; forty thousand purse; Crimmins accepts; answer.

"EDDIE GRANEY."

Schlichter at once went on a hunt for Jack Gleason, Berger's manager. Gleason no sooner read the telegram than he answered that he was willing and especially as Crimmins, the name metioned in the message is his San Francisco representative. A cablegram was sent to O'Brien, who is now somewhere in England, but up to a late hour to-night no answer had been received.

It was reported that O'Brien was on his way to Australia to meet Bill Squires, but Schlichter said yesterday that O'Brien would give preference to Berger and would postpone his visit to Australia. Before O'Brien made his sudden departure for Europe he received messages from both Graney and Jim Coffroth, asking him if he would meet Berger in Frisco. Jack answered that he was willing, but that he would give Graney tne preference.

COOPERS DISCUSSING SCARCITY OF TIMBER.

C. M. Pate Says Inroads That Have Been Made Will Be Hard to Overcome.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The general condition of the American forests, the scarcity of proper timber for manufacturing uses and the propagation of timber growth were the principal subjects discussed before the members of the National Coopers' Association which began its eighth semi-annual convention here to-day.

"Statistics show," said Mr. C. M. Pate, of Louisville, "that a great deal of apprehension exists among users of timber for manufacturing purposes, as inroads have been made on American forests for the past five years that will be hard to overcome."

W. P. Clarkson, of St. Louis, chairman of the Executive Committee, reported the general condition of the organization good.

Second Race — Airship, Chief Millikin, Black Art.
Third Race—Freebooter, Granada, Miss Doyle.
Fourth Race—Class Leader, Blue Mint, Weird.
Fifth Race—Friction, Lexoline, Harold D.
Sixth Race — Light Opera, Prince of Pleas, The Mate.
Seventh Race—Nine, Savoir Faire, Marshal Ney.
The one best bet is Freebooter, third race.

LATONIA, Ky., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Rain, which fell in torrents about noon, had the effect of greatly depleting the card, converting the track from lightning fast to one ankle deep in mud, and allowing those nags with the tender underpinning a chance to earn their oats. Twenty-four scratches adorned the board. The fourth race, which was the day's feature and which was probably the race most speculated on during the afternoon, brought five superior mudders to the post, of which Wee Lass, a most consistent performer at the meeting, was returned an easy winner. The Hall & Marshall trick decisively outbroke, outran and outstayed her field, reducing the race to a mere procession at the end and winning with her head pulled sideways by five good, open lengths.

The attendance, which was reduced to a mere handful of regulars to-day, succeeded in besting the books, as in nearly every instance the winners were well supported. The only real setback the dopesters received was in the day's opener, when they went to Boserrian as if it was all over but the shouting. Nicol, who has failed to display his usual vim of late, had the leg up on the Dunne trick, and put up a very listless endeavor, being roundly hissed on his return to the judges' stand.

Harry Kuhl, formerly racing secretary at Hawthorne, was at the track this afternoon. Kuhl is en route to Colorado to visit his mother and also to endeavor to regain his lost health, being at the present on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Lon Jones shipped Col. Jim Douglas and Zipango to Louisville to-day, where he will rest them up preparatory to the opening of Douglas Park.

Reports from St. Elizabeth's Hospital to-day elicited the information that Jockey Sobell, who was hurt recently while riding through the field, was in a very critical condition, and little hope was entertained for his recovery.

Mr. N. Tracey, the Lexington breeder, wired to the track this afternoon for permission to sell thirty yearlings in the paddock August 29. The management granted the request.

Good Thing Fails.

One of those bad-looking performances which are hard to explain characterized the day's opener, in which Boserrian, the heavily-backed favorite, failed utterly to display speed at any stage of the five and one-half-furlong journey. With Nicol in the pilot house the Dunne trick was played almost to the exclusion of the balance of the field by the large and small bettors alike, who one and all figured that the Cesarion colt, with but 108 pounds in his back and certainly favored by the going, would win all by himself. The opening price of 4 to 5 was eagerly accepted by those who wager the large amounts, and this forced her price up to 7 to 10 in the twinkling of an eye. The race however, justified the price, as the Respess mare never left the issue in doubt or gave her backers a moment's anxiety. Breaking well in motion, Treubel, who had the mount, rushed her to the front and, racing the field dizzy in the first half, was only breezing through the stretch to win by three lengths. Falkland, which finished second, came from a long way back in the stretch, and easily disposed of Zinda in the final drive. Aubuchon, who had the mount on the latter, put up a very weak finish on the Woolsthorpe filly after losing several lengths turning for home.

Another Favorite Wins.

The day's feature, the fourth, an overnight handicap, at seven furlongs, was taken in very hollow manner by Wee Lass, the heavily supported favorite. Five lengths back of the Hall & Marshall trick came Nonie Lucille, out to the last ounce from the effects of forcing the pace, while Devout, which had been played by the smart set, was in a similar condition. In the betting Wee Lass, who had the services of "Tex" Preston, was always in demand, Coruscate, which had never shown a preference for the going, was well played by a certain coterie for a good thing. Nonie Lucille found only a smattering of support, while Platoon, a Mollie Johnson did not seem to favor the going. Royal Legend was given a very easy ride.

611—FOURTH RACE—Seven furlongs; purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward; handicap. Start good. Won easily; second and third same. Winner, Hall & Marshall's ch. f., 3, by Albert—Scotch Lassie; trained by L. Hall. Value to winner, $450. Fractional time: :24 2-5, :49 4-5, 1:17, 1:30 4-5.

Wee Lass, reveling in the going, flashed into a long early lead and tiptoeing her field won cantering. Nonie Lucille ran well under poor handling and had no contention for the place. Devout, under pressure during the early stages, was eased up when beaten. Coruscate closed strong after being badly outrun; did not seem to display a fondness for the going. Platoon ran far below his true form.

612—FIFTH RACE—Mile and three-sixteenths; purse $400; for four-year-olds and upward; selling. Start good; won easily; second and third driving. Winner, W. E. Suggs' g. g., 5, by Joe Norwood—Nellie Gray. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25 3-5; :53; 1:21; 1:49 4-5; 2:08 4-5.

Hubbard, showing the most speed and away well in motion, opened up a commanding gap in the first mile which the others could never overcome; pulled up a trifle lame. Swiftwing, easily second best, ran in close attendance to the far turn, but when he permitted his field to head him in the final furlong and had to be ridden out to the last ounce to stall off Modendo. The latter came from a long way back and stood a long drive gamely. Pillar ran forwardly for a mile, then chucked it up. Imboden was given a poor ride.

613—SIXTH RACE—One mile; purse $400; for three-year-olds and upward; selling. Start fair; won driving; second and third same. Winner, B. Schreiber's b. f., 3, by Bannockburn—Proposal. Trained by D. Henry. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25 2-5, :51 1-5, 1:18 1-5, 1:46 1-5.

Banposal, as god as left, flashed to the front rounding the turn into the back stretch and, reveling in the going, smothered her field with speed for three-quarters and hung on well in the final drive. Intense, favored by clear sailing, ran in close pursuit all the way, but was weakly ridden in the run home. Lady Charade made up a lot of round and closed stoutly. Search Me made a determined bid rounding the far turn, but stopped badly in the run home. Black Cat was kicked at the post and severly injured.

THE COD WINS SECOND TRIAL YACHT RACE

Dr. Prince's Boat Has Best Luck On the Spinnaker Run.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 14.—In a most uncertain breeze The Cod, owned by Dr. Morton Prince, of Boston, won the second of the trial races for the selection of the defenders of the Roosevelt cup. The Caramba, owned by C. F. Hoster, was a close second, while Cheewink VI., the entry of F. G. Macomber, was third.

It was anyone's race until the yachts turned the first mark, six miles southeast of the starting line, off Half Way Rock, but the Cod had the most luck on the spinnaker run to the stake and rounded it in 1:26:58, which was one minute and fifty seconds ahead of the Caramba.

The Cheewink did not have quite as much luck as the Caramba, but at the line led over the Sally VIII. The New Orleans, the Southern representative, did very well on the light air, while the Vim, the New York entry, passed three of the rivals on the second leg. The Spokane, winner of yesterday's race, was one of the unfortunate yachts in not getting the breeze.

The start was made at 1:55, the elapsed time being as follows:

Cod	3:25:35	Vim	3:44:43
Caramba	3:29:02	Auk	3:47:27
Cheewink VI.	3:35:45	Manchester	3:45:57

BRASHEAR'S Colonels are at Kansas City, where this afternoon they begin a series of four games with the Blues. Puttmann is slated to do the pitching for Louisville to-day and, as he is in fine shape at present, he should win his game.

All the local players, in fact, are in good condition at present and they should make a better showing on this trip than they did on the former journey. With Elliott and Dunkle in shape a majority of games should be won by the Colonels.

The leaven is slowly working for the correction of the two greatest evils that now confront professional baseball—the practice of players and officials in making wagers on games, and the practice of umpires in ignoring the rules by allowing players to intimidate them and each other. It is quite certain that at the next meeting of the National League both these matters will be taken up and handled in such a way that in the future the sport will be cleaner and more worthy of the patronage of the American public than ever it has been.

A conversation with a member of the Chicago team some days ago reveals the manner in which the making of bets on games by players is regarded, and how it is certain to give rise to suspicion under some circumstances or conditions. Said this man: "We have the names of several players who have made bets on the New Yorks beating us out in the race for the pennant, and we are keeping the closest watch on the work of these men in the games that they play against the Giants. While we do not believe that there is a ball player in the business who would do a crooked act, we nevertheless want to be convinced that the men who have made bets against us play as hard a game against the New Yorks as they do against us and other teams. It would not be a hard matter for a player having a bet to turn a trick at a critical stage of a game that would help the New Yorks. And for that reason we are keeping tab on these wagering men."

There is one suspicion that the National League must eradicate, and do it at once.

In regard to the umpires, the Peitz-McGinnity affair, which ended in the suspension of the two players and of the umpire who allowed them to go to a fight, is an able illustration of what must be avoided in the future. No matter whether the public hears what is passing between the players or not the umpire should and must be compelled to stop all remarks that are not in strict accordance with the coaching rules, which provide that coachers may only give necessary instructions to baserunners. "Some of the language that was used in this Peitz-McGinnity affair was most shocking." President Pulliam told me some days after the happening. He then read me some remarks that had been made by other players in controversies before the umpires finally put a stop to it. It was highly disgusting and should never have been allowed to go as far as it did. The remedy lies with the umpires, who, on the first utterance of profane or indecent language, no matter how low it may be spoken, should send the offender off the field. In that way the practice soon would be broken, and the game played more on its merits and less through intimidation than at present.

The market for securities was too dull today to warrant anything but negative conclusions. There seemed to be a relinquishment of the vigorous support which has been evident throughout the recent rise in prices. Efforts to carry prices upward were desisted from, and the market left to take care of itself to a large extent. This was not without its effect on the tone, which became intensely dull and rather soggy. The speculation showed the want of the customary stimulant which has been administered at short intervals, sometimes by an actual news occurrence and, when this was lacking, by diligent rumors of expected developments which proved even more effective than the actual occurrences. There was a disposition to await the outcome of some of these rumors.

Assertions have grown very positive that this week's meetings of the authorities of the Harriman Pacific railroads will take definite action toward the placing of Southern Pacific on the dividend list, and for the increase of the Union Pacific dividend. Expectation is almost equally well defined of an announcement of St. Paul rights this week. These expectations have been so often disappointed in the past that a spirit of caution and some degree of skepticism has grown up and was reflected in the day's operations in stocks.

This spirit was fostered by the failure to act by the Canadian Pacific directors yesterday on the supposed plan to distribute a bonus to the stockholders as a result of the large sales of the company's land holdings. That stock was weak in consequence in spite of the statement showing extraordinarily favorable results from the year's operation. The surplus reported for the year after the paying of the dividend for the year was $8,784,953. But holders of the stock apparently did not feel compensated by this showing for their disappointment of the expected extra disbursement. A similar effect on sentiment was produced by the conservative tone on the question of increased dividends in the public utterances of President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern. There was comment also on a tone of seeming levity in the quoted references by that gentleman to the persistant rumors of the ore lands deal.

It is to be said of the market, however, that in spite of the withdrawal of active efforts toward lifting prices there was little evidence of damaging pressure to sell. Supporting orders were offered on an early decline, and when these were made effective the market practically became a drifting match with the trading almost completely idle at times.

Yesterday's reports of gold engagements were the subject of some confusion, owing to the failure to identify the institutions in New York which had made the engagement. Foreign exchange authorities professed to see only a loss in the reported engagement under yesterday's condition. Foreign exchange advanced to-day and a hardening effect on foreign money market resulting from New York demand for gold was in continued evidence. Sterling exchange at Paris, however, advanced again and reports from that center were to the effect that loans were being secured there for New York account. This would indicate that apprehension in Paris over the Russian outlook had so far subsided as to permit a relaxation of the hold on money resources.

The weekly bulletin of the Weather Bureau confirmed the feeling of confidence over the maintenance or the improvement of conditions of the crops reported in the Government monthly statement. The special strength of some of the winter wheat and corn carriers was attributed to the high crop conditions. The recommendation of the Executive Committee of the Consolidated Company to maintain the present dividend rate, although it would seem to relieve a fear which caused recent weakness in that stock was greeted by a decline.

The call money market was little changed, but asking rates for time loans for sixty and ninety days were raised to 5 per cent. and for five and six months to 6 per cent.

Prices went to the lowest in the last hour, and then recovered to the best of the day, closing firm.

FOREIGN FINANCIAL.

London, Aug. 14.—Money was in quiet demand and supplies were abundant. Discounts were firm in view of the possible further demand for gold for America. Prices on the Stock Exchange continued moving upward, particularly Home rails. Under steady investment purchases, consols picked up a fraction over yesterday's loss. Foreigners were steadily supported from the continent. Russians were again dearer. Kaffirs were inclined to ease early in the day, but hardened later. Americans opened firm at above parity, but business was small in the forenoon. Later the receipt of the New York opening prices caused a temporary ease, but the market soon recovered and prices closed firm at about the best quotations of the day. Canadian Pacific weakened, owing to some disappointment being caused by the dividend. Japanese Imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103¾. Closing: Consols for money 88; do for the account 88 1-16; Anaconda 13⅜; Atchison 98⅜; do preferred 104½; Baltimore and Ohio 125½; Canadian Pacific 171⅞; Chesapeake and Ohio 63⅝; Chicago Great Western 19½; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 163⅜; De Beers 17⅝; Denver and Rio Grande 45½; do preferred 88½; Erie 45¾; do first preferred 81½; do second preferred 72¾; Illinois Central 181; Louisville and Nashville 150; Missouri, Kansas and Texas 36½; New York Central 145½; Norfolk and Western 95⅝; do preferred 95; Ontario and Western 49¼; Pennsylvania 70; Rand Mines 6¾; Reading 68; Southern Railway 28¾; do preferred 162½; Southern Pacific 81⅝; Union Pacific 163¾; do preferred 98; United States Steel 42⅝; do preferred 117⅛; Wabash 23; do preferred 48; Spanish fours 93¼. Paris, Aug. 14.—Prices on the Bourse to-day were firmer. Home securities were higher. Canadian Pacific declined owing to dissatisfaction over the dividend. Russians were firm. Exchange on London 20m 47½ pfgs. for checks. Discount rates: short bills, one and three months, 3½ per cent.

NO ONE TO PROSECUTE

DEFENDANTS IN THE POOLROOM CASES.

Magistrate Hoffman Delivers Roast for County Attorney and His Assistant.

When the case of the Commonwealth against seven of the working staff of one of the local poolrooms was called for trial in Magistrate Hoffman's Court yesterday morning, neither the prosecuting witness, Chester Boyd, nor the County Attorney, nor his assistant, were present. Magistrate Hoffman became angry at this and denounced the County Attorney. "Jefferson county pays two lawyers to represent her," he said, "and if these lawyers are unable to attend my trials on account of their private practice, I will see to it that another attorney, who will not neglect his duties, will be appointed to represent the county."

Several weeks ago Magistrate Hoffman issued warrants for the arrest of Edward Reubel, Harry Petty, Fred Friedheimer, George Schwaner, Williard J. Stuck, Edward Shelley and Thomas Slater, on the information of Chester Boyd, who charged them with maintaining and operating a poolroom within the boundaries of Jefferson county. According to the Magistrate, Boyd came to his office and requested him to issue warrants for the arrest of the defendants. When the Magistrate asked him whether he had sufficient evidence to convict the men, Boyd, he said, became very angry and threatened to institute proceedings for his impeachment if the warrants were not sworn out immediately. The warrants were issued, and served by Constable Bartholomew.

The case was called for trial a week after the arrests were made and a continuance was granted. A week later the case was called again and, upon request, was continued until 9 o'clock yesterday morning. When the case was called yesterday morning all the defendants were present, but the prosecuting attorney and the prosecuting witness failed to put in an appearance. The case was dismissed. This probably will close the poolroom case as far as the defendants are concerned.

TRUE TO PROMISE

Miss Bertha La Duke Starts On Long Journey.

WILL MEET SWEETHEART IN FARAWAY CALIFORNIA.

CHARLES N. JACOBS WENT WEST TO SEEK FORTUNE.

PREPARATIONS FOR WEDDING.

When Charles Newton Jacobs, of Utica township, left his home early in March to seek his fortune among strangers in California, he exacted a promise from his sweetheart, Miss Bertha LaDuke, a daughter of Edward LaDuke, who also lives in Utica township, that she would join him when he thought his prospects were such as to justify them in being married. This period has been reached and unaccompanied Miss LaDuke left Jeffersonville last night to travel several hundred miles to meet her fiance and be married at Hamilton City, Glenn county, Cal., one week from to-day.

During her journey Miss LaDuke will stop one day in Illinois to visit a sister, who is a school teacher. She expects to arrive at her destination Tuesday, August 21. Arrangements already have been made for her to go immediately to the home of a family that has become greatly attached to the young man she is to marry. Preparations for beginning housekeeping as soon as the ceremony has been performed and a large supply of things necessary for fitting up a home have been sent ahead in time to be ready. Many handsome presents also have gone forward.

Hamilton City is a boom town that has grown to a population of 1,000 in a few months and many of the residents occupy tents, the climate being such that it is hardly necessary to live in a house. There are a number of good residences in the place, however. Mr. Jacobs has a good position in a beet sugar factory and a considerable sum of money which he had when he started West has been invested in town lots.

EMPLOYS ATTORNEY.

Capt. Clegg Ready for Investigation on Charges Made by F. M. Applegate.

Capt. M. E. Clegg, Chief of Police of Jeffersonville, has retained George H. Voigt to represent him in the investigation that is to follow the charges filed against him by Frank M. Applegate, a former patrolman, who was requested by Capt. Clegg to resign under instructions of the Jeffersonville Board of Metropolitan Police Commissioners. Applegate was struck by Capt. Clegg when he went to file his charges, Capt. Clegg being secretary of the board. After the encounter Applegate succeeded in filing the allegations which include charges of intoxication and acceptance of "hush money."

On account of A. I. Frank, one of the members of the police board, being at Deputy attending a campmeeting it is not known when the investigation will take place, but Capt. Clegg said last night that any time would suit him. He has furnished his attorney with a long list of names from which to select his witnesses, it being the desire that only men of the highest character be put on the stand for the accused.

PETE NICHOLSON'S TROUBLES INCREASING.

Held Over to Grand Jury on the Charge of Destroying Private Property.

Pete Nicholson was presented in the Police Court yesterday morning for the second time in connection with his disasters. He was charged with destroying private property and was held over to the grand jury on $150 bond. At his former arraignment, he was fined $100 and sentenced to fifty days in the workhouse. Nicholson created much merriment in the court by his efforts to conduct his case. Several witnesses were heard, and his cross-examination was full of amusing and irrevelant questions. He attempted to follow the tactics of James P. Edwards in the milk cases. At the conclusion, he expressed much chagrin over his failure in a new role. The complainant was Joe Kottman, the windows of whose saloon at Third avenue and Walnut streets, Nicholson smashed with a brick when Mr. Kottman interceded after Nicholson had pointed his revolver at H. F. Schweitzer.

A young woman testified and Nicholson attempted to show that her watch was wrong when she said that she had heard the noise at a certain hour, and he demanded to know what time she had set her watch by, "City Hall, drugstore, church, or railroad time." He then rested his case upon what he called the failure of the prosecution to prove the correct time of his escapade.

TWO MEN FINED IN MAGISTRATE ROBB'S COURT.

Quillar Middleton and William Spencer were presented in Magistrate Robb's court in the county yesterday afternoon, and were fined $19 and placed under a bond of $300 to keep the peace for six months. They were charged with breach of the peace, and in default of payment of their fines were lodged in the county jail. George Middleton, Allan Spencer and Edward Allan, were also presented on the same charge, but they were dismissed. All five were arrested on July 30, by Constable Gilbert, who said that the men were drunk and were engaged in a general fracas. Middleton had his arm broken in the encounter.

ELOPING COUPLE TO BE MARRIED THIS FALL.

Marvin Minish and Miss Myrtle Johnson, of Gratz, Ky., Overcome Parental Objections.

Ernest Button, the grocer, who went on the bond of Marvin Minish and Miss Myrtle Johnson, who were placed in the jail several weeks ago because they had eloped from Gratz, Ky., to get married, has learned that the young couple have overcome the objections of Miss Johnson's parents and will be married in the autumn. The young people have been sweethearts for several years, and were graduated from Cedar Grove Academy last June. They came to this city to get married, as B. D. Johnson, the father of the girl, objected on the score of their youth. They were arrested, presented in the Police Court and finally taken back home. The young man's obstinacy won over the obdurate old father, said Mr. Button, and after much persuasion he was induced to give his consent. They are to be married in October, and they have asked Mr. Button, who was their sole help and comfort in this comfortless town in their period of trouble, to be present.

James P. Mitchell, a prominent young man of New Albany, died yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Mitchell, 1814 Culbertson avenue, that city. His death was due to typhoid fever. Nearly two months ago he was seized with malarial fever of a severe type, but after a few weeks he had improved so greatly that his ultimate restoration to health was expected. Typhoid fever developed, and his condition was reported critical for ten days before his death.

He was thirty-one years old and unmarried, and is survived by his parents and three sisters, Mrs. Edward Banet, Misses Mabel and Nellie Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell was an expert bricklayer and a leader in the labor circles of New Albany, being president of the Bricklayers' Union. Somnambulist Injured.

A remarkable case of sleep-walking is reported in New Albany. Benjamin Graham, seventeen years old, son of Horace Graham, who lives with his grandmother, Mrs. George Toops, on West Ninth street, that city, met with an accident during his unconscious wanderings about the house while asleep. He is known as a somnambulist, and the family has kept a close watch on him, and heretofore he has escaped injury. A few nights ago while walking about the house in his sleep, he leaped over the banisters of the stairway on the second floor and fell a distance of fourteen feet. In falling he struck his head against a door casing, sustaining a scalp wound that required thirteen stitches to close. Dr. William Moore was called and cared for his injuries. The boy was doing nicely yesterday, and it is not thought any unpleasant effect will be experienced.

Living Near Dennison, Tex.

Twelve years ago John Lindemann, Jr., son of the late John Lindemann, left New Albany for the West. Since his departure his family in that city has received no communication from him; both his father and mother have died and his wife has again married, having obtained a divorce from him. It was suposed by his relatives that he was dead. A few days ago a New Albany man who had been traveling in the Southwest, reported to Lindemann's relatives that he had met him only a short time before near Dennison, Tex., and that he was apparently in prosperous circumstances. The report goes that he had accumulated a large tract of land, was extensively engaged in stock dealing, and made frequent trips to New Orleans with mules, and to Kansas City and St. Louis with cattle. Relatives of the missing man have written letters to Dennison addressed to him but have received no answer.

For several blocks on Oak street, near the break, the ground is underlaid with quicksand, and many predict that it is going to be a difficult matter to keep the sewer pipes in place. Property owners, who are expected to pay for the improvement, will insist that the severest test be made before the system is accepted by the city authorities.

MAY MEET MONDAY TO CONSIDER HOSPITAL PLAN.

Members of Joint Finance Committee Out of City This Week—Another Subscription.

It is likely that a meeting of the Joint Finance Committee of the General Council will be held at the City Hall next Monday morning for the purpose of discussing plans whereby immediate steps can be taken toward erecting a temporary building for tubercular patients on the City Hospital grounds. Mayor Barth will be present. Several members of the committee are out of the city, and for that reason it would be difficult to secure a quorum before Monday.

The Board of Public Safety in all probability will be ready to make its report on the City Hospital investigation Thursday.

The plan for a new Louisville City Hospital to take the place of the present structure is being discussed. In addition to the $500 and probable $1,000 promised by Mayor Barth, in case a public subscription to pay for a new City Hospital is started, John H. Whallen and James P. Whallen yesterday announced that they would give $2,000 toward a new building.

DEATH FROM APOPLEXY, SAYS CORONER'S JURY.

Apoplexy was the verdict of Magistrate Edward O'Connor, yesterday, in his examination into the death of J. Warren Hall, who was found dead by his wife Monday afternoon at their residence, 1700 West Market street. It was thought at first that he had committed suicide, as he had been melancholy for several days, and as a bottle of carbolic acid had been taken from him last week. He was found by his wife sitting in a chair in his parlar when she went to call him. The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, and the burial will be in Cave Hill cemetery.

CALL ON BARTH.

Representatives of Saloon Men Visit the Mayor.

CONFERENCE IN PRIVATE OFFICE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

SPECIAL MEETING OF PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION CALLED.

RESULT OF HOTEL RULING.

Saloon men of Louisville are aroused over the stand taken by Mayor Paul C. Barth to the effect that hotel proprietors may serve liquor with meals on Sunday hereafter. Mayor Barth had been in his office at the City Hall but a few minutes yesterday morning when J. C. Boardman, president of the Louisville Liquor Dealers' Protective Association, accompanied by William Borgmann, chairman of the Executive Committee of the same association, were announced and sent in a request for an interview. What took place behind closed doors in the Mayor's private office is not known, but the interview was lengthy. At its close Mayor Barth stated that the two men called on private business. Both Mr. Boardman and Mr. Borgmann refused to enter into details concerning the interview.

Following the visit announcement was made that the Louisville Liquor Dealers' Protective Association will hold a meeting Thursday. At that time Mayor Barth's attitude toward the saloon men and hotel proprietors will be discussed. A prominent member of the Liquor Dealers' Association said yesterday afternoon that he believed the saloon men have as much right to serve liquor on Sunday as have the hotel men.

"There is discrimination against us," he said, "and we mean to test the matter by taking it to the courts. A saloon, in many ways, is similar to the hotel. Lunches are served in most of the saloons with drinks. We fail to appreciate the difference between selling drinks at a fashionable hotel and in a barroom. Under the old charter, many of the saloons were called taverns, and they are taverns still. We pay the same tax as the hotel man pays for serving drinks. You may rest assured that if the hotel men are allowed to sell drinks on Sunday, the saloon men will make the same demand."

Mayor Barth, in discussing the stand taken by him, said that the first attempt made on the part of a hotel man to overstep the privilege that has been accorded will result in a revocation of the privilege.

* * *

Must Not Abuse Privilege.

"Drinks must be served with nothing less than a bona fide meal," he said. "Drinks with sandwiches don't go. I think all the hotel men have a clear understanding on this point."

Continuing, Mayor Barth said that permitting hotel men to serve drinks with regular meals on Sunday was not a new thing.

"That was the original intention when the Sunday-closing law first went into effect in Louisville," he said. "When the Board of Public Safety first made the order for Sunday closing it was stipulated that the hotels would be allowed to serve drinks with regular meals, but not otherwise. Any hotel proprietor who violates this rule will be proceeded against."

Judge A. E. Richards, City Attorney, when asked yesterday whether in his opinion the law permits hotel men to serve drinks with meals, replied that he did not care to discuss the question until it reaches him. He said that when the Mayor and members of the Board of Public Safety want an opinion on the subject from him, he will look up the law on the matter and decide the point.

The hotel feature of the Sunday-closing law was not discussed with the City Attorney by Mayor Barth yesterday. Mayor Barth said that Judge Richards had been consulted when the original order about Sunday closing had been made. There has been no change in the attitude of the administration since then, he said.

Saloon Men to Meet.

The meeting of the Louisville Liquor Dealers' Protective Association will be held Thursday morning in the Boston Cafe. All members have been requested to be present. A report became current yesterday that in case the hotel men are allowed to serve liquor Sunday with meals, the saloon men will keep open their places of business next Sunday in order to thoroughly test the law. No member of the Liquor Dealers' Association could be found yesterday, however, who was willing to verify this report.

Mayor Barth denied the report current yesterday that the stand taken by him relative to hotels was the entering wedge whereby the "lid" gradually would be lifted, and that within a short time all the saloons would be allowed to remain open on Sunday. The Mayor said there was no intention on the part of the administration to take such action, and that any saloon man who violates the Sunday-closing law must suffer the consequences.

WARRANT OF ARREST

FOR ADA BROWN SWORN OUT BY MRS. ROSE OWSLEY.

Mrs. Owsley Alleges Brown Woman Assaulted Her With an Umbrella.

Mrs. Rose Owsley, of 105 Campbell street, swore out a warrant late yesterday afternoon for the arrest of Ada Brown, alias Rickert, alias Snyder, charging her with disorderly conduct. Mrs. Owsley alleges that the Brown woman assaulted her with an umbrella last Sunday afternoon in Baxter Square, at Eleventh and Jefferson streets. She said that her husband, Ben S. Owsley had left home some time ago and had left the family in a very destitute condition. She had heard that he had been seen with the Brown woman, and she determined to find him and ask him to return home.

Meeting the couple in the park she approached them and began to upbraid her husband for his neglect of his family, and wild with anger she turned upon the Brown woman, who is young and very pretty, and began to taunt her for her manner of life and for her alienation of her husband's affections. Hardly had she ceased speaking when the woman jumped up and struck her over the head with an umbrella. Patrolman Gallagher arrived on the scene after the Brown woman had fled.

Mrs. Owsley reported the case to Capt. Julius Hild, agent of the Board of Children's Guardians, and he said that he would make an investigation and arrest her husband on the charge of neglect of family. Owsley is employed at the car works in Jeffersonville, according to Capt. Hild, and earns a good salary. He has five children, whose ages range from two to twelve years, and has not provided for them for some time.
